CONFEREES VOTE BAN ON MEDICAID FUNDS

> Certain Exceptions Are Specified in Compromise-House Relaxes Standards on Auto Pollution

FOR MOST ABORTIONS

BY DAVID E. ROSENBAUM Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15-A -Senate-House conference committee voted today to outlaw in most instances abortions per formed under the Federal Medicaid program, but the committee specified certain cases in which such abortions would be permissible.

Meanwhile, the House of Rapresentatives voted to relax significantly the pollution standards to be required of automanufacturers over the next years. That action reduced the possibility that a comprehensive law regulating air pollution would be enacted

The conferees' agreement was an attempt to break a summerlong deadlock between the Senate and the House on the abortion question. The deadlock has held up final passage of a $57 billioo appropriation for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Department of Labor.

Outlook for Compromise Uncertain

The House has repeatedly voted to prohibit the use of any Federal money to pay for abortions. The Senate has been equally adamant in opposing such a ban. United States Senator from New York.

3 Escape From Trenton Prison But Are Recaptured in 5 Hours

TRENTON, Sept. 15 (UPI)—Three in-mates escaped from the Trenton State Prison late yesterday, but the local police recaptured them within five hours.

Czechoslovakia's share in the engineering exports of Comecon, the East European economic grouping, dropped from 18 percent in 1965 to 12 percent in 1975, Mr. Strougal disclosed.

"This is inexcusable," he commented. Earlier this month, a party presidium member, Josef Kempny, criticized the mining and power industries for breakdowns in electricity supplies and other deficiencies.

The authorities said that an unidentified man had been shot to death on the railroad tracks less than a half mile from the spot where the escapees were caught, but they said there was no reason to believe the two incidents were connected.

Bodyguards of Mao Portray Him As Having Led Frugal Existence

HONG KONG, Sept. 15 (UPI)—In the most intimate portrait of Mao Tsetung ever released officially by China, his bodyguards portrayed him today as a frugal and self-sacrificing worker for the ideals of Communism.

During a period of economic trou-hles, Mao stopped eating meat and drinking tea for three years and re-peatedly refused to have his run-down house repaired or to replace the shirts and shoes he had worn thin after many years of use, the guards said.

The revelations were contained in an article written by members of the army's 8341 Unit, which provided security around Mao's residence in the Forbidden City area of Peking. The article was transmitted in part-by the official press agency, Hsinhua.

Mao worked and studied long hours, often without food, the article said.

Refused to Get New Shirts

"Esteemed and beloved great leader Chairman Mao, you lived in a plain and hard-working way and [were] unassuming and approachable," the article said. "The house you lived in was old, but you declined all offers to have it repaired in the more than 20 years after liberation. Your shirts, blankets and shoes were worn thin from many years of use. We suggested many timesthat they be changed, but you would not allow it."

When the economic experiment called the Great Leap Forward collapsed in the late 1950's, bringing hard times to China, Mao stopped eating meat and drinking tea for a period of three years, according to his bodyguards. The wrote:

"During the three years of temporary difficulties in our national economy (1959-61), you not only encouraged us to uphold the moral integrity of the Chinese people by working hard and energetically and surmount all difficulties in order to withstand the prescive from social imperialism and oversure from social imperialism and overthe effects of natural calamities, but you yourself stopped eating meat and drinking tea, and shared weal and woe with the people throughout the country.

Want a mink-lined storm coat? Sure you do.

Want to spend six or seven hundred? Sure you don't.

So let's look at the alternatives.

Alternative A-1 has Absolutely All the A-one things going for it. Look at that waist-hugging, wrap-me-up silhouette. Look at that flattering, face-framing hood. Look at that luscious fur lining.

Now look again. We fooled you, that's not fur real. It's fur fake; a lush acrylic pile-up called Mincara® that mimics ranch mink beautifully. Except when you own it, you don't have to worry about moths and fur storage and so on.

What you do have to worry about is when you wear it. people are apt to think you're very wealthy, and someone may try to marry you for your money.

But helping you look like Ms Lotsaloot is not all our A-1 will do for you. It will keep you nice and warm because it's fully-lined (not just trimmed) with this cozy Mincara, which is made by a company called Tissavel. And it will keep you dry in a storm because the outside is water-repellent cotton and polyester.

The color is a rich chestnut brown. The sizes are 6 to 16. And the price is 220.00, a fur cry from six or seven hundred.

And Alternative A-2 has the same posh lining and the same protective shell. Only the collar is a deep, turn-up-around-yourears luxury, the patch pockets are good and roomy, and the color is a bright persimmon red. Also 6 to 16, 220.00.

Now you may ask "Lovely coats, who made thee?" Some very clever people at Russel Taylor, a firm that specializes in fur workmanship. No wonder everything looks so naturally lavish.

President Ford and his Democratic opponent, Jimmy Carter, have said that they do not approve of the use of Federal noney to pay for abortions.

However, Mr. Ford may still veto the overall appropriations legislation, to which the abortion measure was tied, because it exceeds his budget for health, education and social services programs. Other Actions by Congress

As Congress, with barely two weeks left until adjournment, stepped up the pace of its activity, there were these other developments on Capitol Hill:

The Senate approved, 86 to 0, a bill providing for stiff fines and prison terms for representatives of American companies who bribe foreign officials. The House has not acted on the measure, however, and it is unlikely to be enacted this year qThe Senate, by a vote of 66 to 20, gave final approval to a Federal budget with a spending limit of $413.1 billion and a deficit of $50.6 billion for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1. The House is expected to approve the budget resolution tomorrow in the final step of the new Congressional budget-making process.

A tow in normal times may have six seven barges across and about eight ep. However, shippers are now using wer barges in a tow to decrease maneuring room needed in narrow, shallow appels

"The worst problem is when you have tow break up." sald a corps official. What happens is that a tow, a cluster barges, will run up on a sand bar that st shifted into being and if the wrench strong enough, it will break apart, the ble snap —and then you have a barge ided with maybe 1,500 tons of steel ating out of control. It can flip over, m a bridge, anythlog. We have in thad y flip over, but a number have broken the last month, sometimes one a day." Colonel Lockridge said that in the 400 le stretch of river in the Memphis repon. from Cairo, Ill. to Vicksburg, Miss, ere were 19 sections now regarded as langerous" because of low water.

onditions were normal. Fewer Problems at St. Louis

The company, he said, still has to pay he normal rate for each barge, fully load-d or not, thus its shipping costs are dou-

To the north, in the St. Louis region, Col. Lee McKinoey of the Corps of Engineers reported, "some grounding," but generally fewer problems than in the Memphis region, though "we're getting about half the water flow we oormally get this time of year.

"We're coming into the heaviest time or shipping." he said. "October Is our neaviest month, when the grain goes south and fuel —coal and oil —for the winter heating, picks up going north."

In both regions, along some 700 miles of the river, the corps is using its available dredges, as well as those contracted from private companies, to clear sand bars that pop up because of silting and shifting of the bottom. "We're using the dredges to put our fires," Colonel McKinoey said. However, he added, the river in his region could drop three feet or more without creating extreme hazards. In Memphis, however, Colonel Lockridge said that if the river dropped to below minus $.4 oo the gauge, "we'll be a totally new territory. It's never been elow that before."

Many draft evaders have been caught returning home intentionally, often by car near the Canadian border. But Mr. Israel is one of the extremely few persons who have been apprehended while merely changing planes, according to Michael Uhl, an official of the Safe Return Amnesty Committee, a nonprof-it group founded in the 1960s. Mr. Uhl estimates there are 4,000 draft resisters like Mr. Israel living abroad, as well as 12,000 to 40,000 deserters from the services, and as many as 80,000 persons with "bad discharges" because of artistices related

Baldwin pianos fresh from Tanglewood are now on sale.

Every year we hold a sale of Baldwin pianos used by students and artists of the Tanglewood festival. And this year the festivities are even greater because we also have a sale of instruments prestigiously used this summer at Long Island's Usdan Center for the Performing Arts.

The magic of talented fingers may or may not rub off on these instruments, but it certainly rubs off some of the price. And you can also save on a piano that never left town. Because in honor of the festivals, we're reducing prices on nearly all our pianos.

We also offer savings on trade-ins, discontinued models-brand new, fully warranted; and "factory specials," authorized for sale at very special prices.

So if you visit our factory-owned stores and look over our vast collection, you're bound to find an instrument that suits your taste and means.

Financing directly with Baldwin makes it easy. But please hurry. Because the festival at our stores ends October 9.

-for the cutting of virgin redwoods on private land adjacent to the 80-year-old Redwood National Park. Plan to Cut Redwoods Stirs Controversy

By LES LEDBETTER

Special to The New York Times ORICK, Calif., Sept. 15-The battle for the big trees has erupted again here in. "Redwood Country" on the northern coast below Oregon.

The tallest of the tallest trees in the world, the 350-foot-plus Sequoia sempervirens or Coast Redwoods, appear to be threatened, after 4,000 years of existence, by gravel and six huilding up in the Redwood Creek Basin, a dozen miles from this town.

After extensive hearings, California has granted limited permission, under strict supervision, for the cutting of virgin redwoods on private land adjacent to the 8-year-old Redwood National Park at its narrowest and most vulnerable spot

The Environmental and Naturalists here contend that the logging must be prevented because, they say, the new timber operations would destroy the hist river-to-ridge view of original red-woods as well as threaten the tall trees in the park itself with further erosion.

The danger to the trees from erosion is caused more by nature than man, say the lumbermen here, who add that the current demand for lumber means they must "harvest" some of their valu-able redwood stands if the Government is not going to act to buy this "renewa-ble resource" for addition to the park, as the park plan originally called for in 1968.

Congress Is Criticized

"The Coogress perpetrated a fraud on the American people in creating the boundaries of the national park and then never proceeding to fund the proposal to protect it," said Claire Dedrick California Secretary for Resources.

"And there hasn't been the will in the recent Administration to provide any leadership either," added Mrs. Dedrick.

Her assessment of where the blame

Her assessment of where the blame lies and what inaction had caused the current crisis was echoed by nearly everyone involved in the controversy.

The Congress isn't out from its responsibility, but I haven't felt the heavy hand of the Administration, the leadership of the party in office saying buy the land to protect the park or suffer the consequences of erosion," said Representative Leo J. Ryan, the California Democrat who will head a Congressional bearing this Saturday in San Francisco on current national policy.

Representative Ryan, whose subcommittee will tour this area at the end of the week before the hearing, said he intended to make the preservation of the redwoods end national park policy "an issue in the upcoming Presidential campaign."

"It's time to rekindle the flame and arouse the people once more on behalf of the "tall trees," said Lucile Vinyard, who has been fighting for Federal protection for the trees since 1964.

Original Goal for Park

"It will be more difficult this time to get the public support and public funds needed to acquire the property at a time when the economy is down, but the public investment today [over $100 million] is going down the drain," said David Van De Mark, another 12-year veteran of the Redwoods Creek

Along with such national groups as the Sierra Club and Save the Redwood League, and such local groups as North Cosst Environmental Center and Emerald Creek Committee, these strong-minded activists originally sought a $100,000-acre National Redwood Park that included

"We are in the business of harvesting

"We are in the business of harvesting trees and we certainly wouldn't want to cut our thrusts by destroying this area," said Robert J. Anderson, of the Arcata Redwood Company, standing on a month-old road that has been cut into the "buffer zone" of trees just above the park. He and Gerald G. Palmer, of Louisana. Pacific Corporation and James A. Rydelius, of Simpson Timber Company, conceded that past logging practices in the area such as large-scale clear-cutting had been interview. "But it is unfair to ask us to take valudes and the prosture of the coast redwood stands to grow back on stripped mountainside in 40 to 60 years. "We could stop tha logging voluntarily but us," said Frank Leach, president of Arcata National Company, parent company of Arcata Redwood, in a telephona interview. About 200 maintenance and security employees went on strike yesterday at Co-op City in the Bronx in a dispute over a new job contract.

On Tuesday, about 45 office workers at the 15,000-family housing complex, members of a different union, also walked off the job in a contract dispute.

No hardships were immediately reported by the tenant-management board that recently took over the state-financed, middle-income project. Tenant security patrols were beginning to fill in for the striking security guards, and supervisory personnel remained on the job.

Yesterday afternoon, leaders of Co-op City's tenant-management board met with a state mediator and officials of the unions involved, Local 32E of the Build-ing Service Employees Union and Local 153 of the Office and Professional Employees international Union. The disputes remained unsettled when the talks adjourned, and more meetings were scheduled for today.

The building employees' cootract with Co-op City expired at 12:01 A.M. yesterday, and the office workers' contract expired about a month ago, according to Charles Rosen, the head of the tenant-management group.

Robert Louis Stevenson said: "To travel hopefully is a better thing than to arrive." He was talking about the start-ofsomething-new feeling that comes when a great plane lifts you off the ground and soars into the sky.

We think you will have that feeling when you take off with Flying Colors!

It means the happy anticipation of a successful business meeting, a family reunion, a long-awaited visit with a friend, or a well-earned vacation.

It means you travel relaxed, with a sense of well-being. That's why you may never want to take off any other way.

India Appoints a New Ambassador to Washington

United States was announced yesterday as Kewal Singh, who retired as Foreign Secretary six months ago. He will suc-ceed T. N. Kaul, Ambassador since 1973, who also preceded Mr. Singh as Foreign Secretary.

Mr. Singh, aged 61, joined the Indian civit-service under the British Raj in 1939 and moved to the diplomatic service soon after Indian independence in 1947. He has been ambassador to the Soviet Union, Pakistan, West Germany, Denmark, Sweden and Cambodia.

He is expected to have an easier time in Washington than Mr. Kaul. Last year, when Prime Minister Indira Gandhi suspended civil rights and jailed opposition leaders, Mr. Keul defended the suspended civil rights. fended the measures as necessary, According to Indian sources, his outspokenness irritated American officials spokenness irritated American officials and lied to a public snubbing of Mr. Kaul by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and the loss of his access to President Ford and the Secretary. Mr. Kaul is expected to become bead of the Foreign Ministry's program of cul-tural relations with other countries.

Mr. Holcombe, 40 years old, is the president of the State District Attorneys Association and has held the county office since 1974.

The charges, all misdemeanors, stemmed from alleged events involving Mr. Holcombe and a young woman side after an office clambake this summer. The complainant, Patricia Adams, 20, reportedly resigned her job as a result.

The District Attorney, who has remained in his office during the investigation, said he would decide next week whether to take a leave of absence or re-

Mr. Holcombe was originally charged with first-degree attempted sexual abuse, a felony, but the grand jury returned one count each of second-and third-degree sexual abuse, which are misdemeanors.

Married and the father of three children, Mr. Holcombe graduated from Syracuse University in 1961 and from the Jon Holcombe, the District Attoruniversity's College of Law in 1964. He became an assistant District Attorney in ney of Onondaga County, leaving his office in Syracuse yesterday accompanied by his wife, Sandra.

Jury Selection Goes On With Kallinger Out of Court GOVERNOR TELLS KEENAN

By DONALD JANSON

HACKENSACK, SEPT. 15-The chair reserved for Joseph Kalkinger was empty today as jury selection proceeded in his murder trial.

The 39-year-old Philadelphia cobbler was removed from the courtroom yesterday when he created a scene by moaning and wailing and swaying in the chair. Judge Thomas F. Dalton of Superior Court said jury selection and the trial would proceed without him until he notified the court he was "willing" to behave.

The judge's choice of words seemed to suggest that he thought Mr. Kallinger could control his behavior. Paul J. Giblin. his lawyer, told reporters that he could not control him. Mr. Giblin had told the judge on Monday that the delense conin Leonia on Jan. 8, 1975, and that he

To take the vacation of a lifetime, you don't have to save for a lifetime.

Or to take a business trip, you don't have to have a lavish expense account. Because now Pan Am is offering low fall air fares to 18 cities all over Europe.

Bargains on fares.

Starting with our regular economy fares, which are especially good for people on business trips since they have no restrictions, you can save from 13% to 21% over regular summer economy fares.

And we have more low fares that can save you even more than the low fall economy fares.

For example, our 14/21-day fares. If you can stay at least 14 days and not more. than 21, you can save up to 22% more.

Then there're our 22/45-day fares. If you're lucky enough to have that much time for Europe, you can save 30% to 40% more

And last, our Budget Fares. Which were very low to begin with and are even lower now. Because you can save about 50% over fall economy fares. All you have to do is buy your ticket 2 months in advance and spend 22 to 45 days vacationing in Europe. (Which should be easy enough.) Naturally, a fare that can save you so much is subject to other conditions and restrictions regarding travel dates and itinerary changes. Your travel agent can give you all the details.

The flights are regularly scheduled ones. On our comfortable 747s, you'll get a choice from 3 entrees in economy. And every flight has 2 movies to choose from ($2.50 per headset in economy).

Bargains on tours.

Of course our fall bargains apply to our tour prices also. One-Weekers. Two-Weekers. Three-

Weekers. London Show Tours. Fly/Drives. Pan Am has tours to just about any place in Europe. For just about any budget. Just ask your travel agent about Pan Am's

Speeches in Michigan Also Accuse Republicans of Creating Worst Conditions Since Depression

By JAMES T. WOOTEN

DEARBORN, Mich., Sept. 15—Jimmy Carter sharply accused the Administrations of Richard M. Nixon and President Ford today of creating the country's worst economic conditions since the Depression of the 1930's.

In a speech prepared for a union group in this suburb of Detroit, the Democratic Presidential nominee said that the Republicans' leadership—or lack of it—has "lowered the American workers' standard of living for the first time in a genera-general election campaign in Aim Arous, Mich., only 35 miles away.

But Mr. Carter scoffed at that idea that Mr. Ford's campaign began only today, asserting instead that the contest between humself and the President was one. of classic political proportions—a clash between their parties' traditional philoso-phies "joined a hundred times" before.

Echoed Minnesota Speecb The thrust of his speech here, while measurably more vigorous in style, echoed the theme of his rhetoric earlier today in Lake Crystal, Minn., before a cordial crowd of more than 50,000 farmers and their families.

Joined by his Vice Presidential running mate, Senator Walter F. Mondale, and by Senator Hubert H. Humphrey, both Minnesotans, Mr. Carter offered the huge throng a folksy celebration of rural virtues and a stinging rebuke of Republican agricultural policies.

It was probably the largest crowd to hear the Georgia peanut farmer since he began his pursuit of the White House 21 months ago, and he seized the occasion to issue yet another diatribe against Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz, who, with the exception of President Ford, has been made to the Minnesota crowd that he "felt with the exception of President Ford, has been much at home" there. Actually, if emerged as Mr. Carter's favorite cam-

a gently sloping hill of mud created by a welcomed deluge two days ago. Senator Humphrey, whose vigorous potential candidacy aggravated Mr. Carter during the primary season, rose to his oratorical best with a high-pitched, passlooate polemic against Mr. Butz. "I charge from this stage... that they knowingly violated the law," Senalor Humphrey shouted, referring to the imposition of four embargoes on American farm products in the last five years. "Oh, yes," he said, "embargoes on what we sell—but open the gates to everybody who wants to sell to us. That's not a record. That's duplicity."

In the past two weeks, he has informed gatherings in a Brooklyn auditorium, on a Philadelphia street corner, in a San Francisco hotel, at a Phoenix park and at a Seattle factory gate that he felt very much "at home" with all of them.

Nevertheless, he seemed genuinely compatible with the sea of friendly faces gazing up at him at the farm festival today, and he launched into a drawling account of his own rural roots, his career as an agribusinessman, the farmer's traditional commitment to the work ethic—and for good measure, he threw in a fish story as well. a gently sloping hill of mud created by Senator Mondale played a supporting role in the proceedings, along with Gover-nor Wendell Anderson of Minnesota, even though the Democratic Vice-Presidential candidate was horn less than 40 miles from Lake Crystal, the site of the Minnesota Farmfest, the sprawling agricultural exposition that was the scene of Mr. Carter's second appearance of the day.

SURVEY FINDS BEAME IS WIDELY CRITICIZED

Half of New York City Democratic Voters in the Sample Are Found to Regard Mayor Unfavorably

By LINDA GREENHOUSE

Mayor Beame, whom most-politicians a expect to seek re-election next year, is regarded unfavorably by half of New York City's Democratic voters, a New York Times survey of voters in Toesday's Democratic primary has shown.

Democratic primary has shown.

Among the key groups—Jews, Catholics, blecks, union members—on whom any Democrat in the city must depend for support, the response to Mr. Beamer three years into his term is lukewarm, at best and for the most part decidedly informable.

umfavorable.

For example, 44 percent of the Jewish voters, who cast about balf the vote in a New York City Democratic primary, gave the city's first Jewish mayor an "unfavorable" ratiog. Mayor Beame was popular with only 45 percent of the Jewish mayorare. sh voters.

More than half the Catholics, the other crucial voting bloc in the city, rated the Mayor uniavorably. He also got strong oegative ratings from union households, blacks and Democrats who consider themselves "reformers."

Unpopular Austerity Programs

to Governor Carey, on whom Mayor Beame has sought to put the onus for many of the unpopular austerity programs be has had to impose during the

For Governor Carey, the responses were almost exactly reversed. Among Demetratic voters in the city, 51 percent had a favorable opinion of the Governor, 34 percent held an unfavorable opinion and 15 percent had no opinion.

In the survey, 1,969 Democrats were asked as they left the polls in 25 election districts whether their opinion of the Mayor and Governor was "generally favorable, unfavorable, or 'don't know.' The distribution of election districts rea flected the statewide voting pattern, so that two-thirds of the voters surveyed were from New York City....

71 Percent Favor Carter

The Democrats were also asked how turnoil, is completed in time for certification by Oct. 8 of the candidates for the November ballot, all politicians seemed to agree that Mr. Moyniban would still nominee, over President Ford by over whelming margins—71 percent for the former Georgia Governor to 12 percent for Mr. Ford, 3 percent for Engene J. McCarthy, and 14 percent undecided.

The only group among whom Mr. Carter showed any weakness were the Catholics; who chose him over Mr. Ford by 59 percent to 22 percent, with 17 percent undecided Of all the Democrats who said they planned to vote for President Ford, 68 percent were Catholic.

Of those Democrats who said they had voted for President Nixon in 1972, four of 10 said they would vote Democratic this time. Three of 10 said they would vote Democratic this time. Three of 10 said they would vote for Mr. Ford, and three of 10 were undecided.

Availabla Alternatives

As for Mayor Beame, the results of The Times survey cannot be used directly to predict how he would do in a primary race next year, because the voters were not asked to rate the Mayor alongside any potential opposent.

Someone who had an unfavorable view of the Mayor in the abstract might well still prefer him to any of the available alternatives when it comes to actually pulling the lever.

For a sample the size of The Times survey, it can be said with 95 percent certainty that the results differ by no nore than 3 percent in either direction from the results that would have been obtained from interviewing all Democratic voters in the state. Prof. Gary R. Orren of Harvard University assisted The Times in its survey coverage.

It doesn't make sense to ride a dead horse and yet there are players who won't give up a favorite defense no matter what powerful weapons are developed against it.

Some years ago, during a period when the French Defense went under a cloud, as any defense will from time to time, its chief practitioner, the East German grandmaster Wolfgang Uhlmann, stuck with it, losing one struggle after another. When questioned about his excessively heroic stubbornness; he replied plaintively, "But I never play anything else."

Strange as it is to flout chances for success for the sake of such an attachment, it happens more often than it should. In the game between Grand-masters Leonid Shamkovich of Israel and Milan Vukic of Yugoslavia from the Manhattan Chess Club International Tournament, Black used a variatioo of the Alekhine Defense that has been taking one pasting after another for more than a year. Without any innovation in mind, Black went down for the count again, but not before giving White the opportunity for a fine combi-

An Improvement Over Spassky Whereas Boris Spassky, in the 19th game of his 1972 world championship match with Bobby Fischer, recapture on KB3 with the bishop, allowing Black counterplay with . . . . N-B5, it has since been discovered that 11 PxB gives White a strong advantage. The black knight must then retreat because 11 . N-B5; 12 BxN, PxB; 13 Q-R4 wins a pawn for White.

Shamkovich gained maneuvering room with 13 P-B5 without having to worry about 13. . PrP, since 14 Q-N3 would then have recovered the pawn favorably. He quickly put Vukic under pressure from all sides by 16 B-N4 and 17 Q-N3.

Concentrating on the king's wing with 20 Q-KR3 and doubling rooks with 22 R-B2 and 23 QR-KB1, Shamkovich took advantage of the cramped black position by the sharp bishop sacrifice 24 P-B5, KPxP, 25 BxBP, PxB; 26 RxP, unleashing the white rooks in the open

Vukic had to part with the exchange by 27 . .B-N2; 28 BxR, NxB because the alternatives, 27 . . .R-N2; 28 P-K61 or 27 ... R-K3; 28 R-B7, P-R3; 29 RxN,

The Squeeze Is On

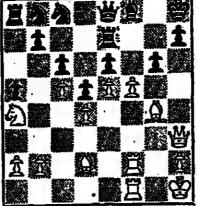

Shamkovich mounted relentless pressure by 29 R-B7, 30 P-K6 and 31 N-N6. Vukic could not defend by 31 . . R-Q1 since 32 RxB!, KxR; 33 R-B7ch, K-R1; 34 Q-B5 (threatening 35 Q-K5ch, followed by mate); QxF; 35 RxPch!, NxR; 36 QxQ would have cost Black his queen. In this line, 34 . . N-N3; 35 P-K7!, R-N1; 36 N-Q7, R-R1; 37 N-B8! crushes Black's resistance.

Consequently, Vukic made a bid for air by 31 . . NxP, but after 32 RxP, he still could not save his rook because 32 . . R-Q1; 33 R-K1 would have won the pinned knight. Moreover, Shamkovich created a decisive gain of material by 35 RxB, KxR; 36 P-KR4.

After 40 Q-B8ch, Vukic resigned, since 40 . . K-R1; 41 R-B7 would have forced Black to give up his queen to stop mate.

WORLD SYNAGOGUE COUNCIL IS IN ZIONIST ORGANIZATION

The World Council of Synagogues, the unbrella organization for 2.5 million lews who are members of the Conservaive movement in Judaism, joined the World Zionist Organization yesterday.

Joseph Almogi, chairman of the World Zionist Organization, welcomed the new affiliate in a short ceremony at the American headquarters of the Zionist organization at 515 Park Avenue. He called the step an indication that there was room in Zionism for all Jews who subscribe to "centrality of Iscael and the unity of the Jewish people."

Samuel Rothstein, president of the World Council of Synagogues, read its resolution approving affiliation. Rabbi Arthur Hertzberg, president of the American Jewish Congress, said later that the move was a "clear indication that all of Judaism is evermore associating itself with Zionism,"

Swiss Teams Play Explored In Book by Harold Feldheim

By ALAN TRUSCOTT

Until the beginning of this decade team play was the preserve of a tiny minority of experts and near-experts. The ordinary tournament player was not attracted by events lasting four days or more, and was content to play in pair games. This state of affairs was revolutionized by the introduction of Swiss team events, in which teams play short matches and the contest lasts one day, or perhaps two.

Players who are used to pair play find that a different approach is need in Swiss team competition, which is much closer to rubber bridge. Finding a safe contract and making it is the principal consideration.

The first book devoted to this subject is "Winning Swiss Team Tactics in Bridge" by Harold Feldheim, a 235-page paperback published by Barclay Bridge Supplies, 8 Bush Avenue, Port Chester, N.Y. at $5.95.

The author has given useful advice in all the areas in which the method of scoring is significant, and has added material on some conventions that are popular with modern experts. This is not a book for beginners, but for the tournament player of some experience it offers much that is not available else-

A Greed for Overtricks

Feidheim gives the diagramed deal as an example of the greed for overtricks that is normal in the match point game but highly unwise in team play. In a world championship match between the United States and Argentina, the Argentine East-West played in four hearts doubled and coocceded a penalty of 900 points. This was not necessarily a bad result, for they could see that North-South could make a vulnerable slam in diamonds.

The slam was duly reached as shown. North and South brushed aside West's weak jump overcall in hearts and climbed to six diamonds. Presumably, four no-trump promised some control in the enemy heart suit.

The opening heart lead was won with the ace, and South planned to draw two rounds of trumps and then play spades, with the expectation of discarding dummy's remaining heart. However, he had a pleasant surprise. When he played the diamond king and continued trumps, the queen appeared from East. The declarer won with the diamond ace and could now have drawn the missing trump and claimed 12 tricks, for a gain of 10 international match points. But he suddenly had a greedy thought: He could perhaps make an overtrick by throwing dummy's beart on spades and then ruffing a heart.

West Ruffs Second Round Without giving the situation as much thought as it deserved, South played spades and perhaps thought himself unlucky when West ruffed the second round and cashed a heart trick to defeat the slam. The declarer's greed had turned a gain of 10 points into a loss of 14, a swing of 24.

The try for an overtrick in this case would not be sensible even in a pair game. In the first place he could expect a good match-point score from making six diamonds, since many North-South pairs would not reach a slam. In the second place, the overtrick possibility was a mirace was a mirage.

It was clear that West had begun with nine red cards. If he held two cards in each black suit he would ruff the third spade lead and South would make 12 tricks. If West held three spades and a singleton club the declarer could maneuver his planned ruff, but he could not then draw the missing trump and score the club ace since dummy

Porcupine Aphorism

Finally, there is oo simple way to account for the striking amhivalence of the characters' feelings for one another, the extraordinary degree to which they oscillate between affection and hatred without ever quite arriving at either. This ambivalence can only be evoked by the story of Schopenhauer's porcupines, with which Peter Rice tries, unsuccessfully, of course, to calm the agitated gathering at one point late in the evening. They were very cold," Peter explains, "but when they drew together for warmth, they pricked each other, so they moved away. But they couldn't hear the cold. The answer is simple. Miss Fox, in "The Widow's Children," has dooe nothing that can be described in terms other than itself. be described in terms other than itself. Every line of her story, every gesture of her characters, is alive and surprising—so much so that reading her text is a little like turning the pages of one of those books in which constructions literally leap up at you. Except what pops up here is in motion and three-dimensional. And the reader must hold it at a distance, for fear of getting a face full of quilis.

Senate Primary...

Daniel P. Moynihan emerges as the hair's-hreadth winner of the hard-fought, sometimes bitter, Democratic primary for United States Senator-a victory none the less sweat for the narrowness of his margin over Representative Bella S. Abzug.

Even as he is caught up in the wave of congratulations, Mr. Moynihan will surely be aware that his first task after the five-way struggle will be to heal the wounds of battle. Unless he can quickly hring his hruised and divided party together, he will have no easy time defeating Senator James L. Buckley, the Republican-Conservative incumbent and again the Republican Party's choice.

To some extent the state's Democrats will naturally rally to their nominee in spite of the differences aired over these past few weeks. But if Mr. Moynihan is to win the fullest possible support-from iodependents as well as from Democrats-he will have to unite them on issues. That should not be difficult to do in campaigning against a man whose negative record in office reflects a genuine conviction that the less government' does about any of society's troubles, the better.

On the most important issues, Mr. Moynihan differs littla from most of his recent opponents and emphatically from Mr. Buckley. It is now up to him to carry the fight to the Senator primarily on that whole range of urban issues that grow out of the fundamental question of the Federal Government's relations with the states and their cities. This relationship will determine whether the localities are going to be able to continue to carry ont their commitments to educate the young, to protect the public health, to provide people with the kind of transportation that binds communities together instead of suffocating them, and to assure them of hreathable air and drinkable water.

These responsibilities do not rest exclusively on the shoulders of national government, of course, but to the extent that they require significant Federal participation, the Democrats and Mr. Buckley are wholly at variance. He was, for example, fully prepared to have the Ford Administration avert lts gaze while this city went down the drain in its time of dire financial need.

Other differences between Mr. Moynihan and Senator Buckley will emerge in the campaign-among them, no doubt, differences on taxation, economic policy and America's place in the world. It will he a service to have the incumbent's positions on all important issues drawn out by the able and articulate Mr. Moynihan and thoroughly argued. New Yorkers from Montauk to Buffalo can only be the better for the debate.

Bosses and Losses

New York's primary election hardly turned out well for organization politics. In this city, the machines failed to rally much support for City Council President Paul O'Dwyer; and Joseph F. Crangle, the Erie County chairman, was unable to carry his own territory for Mr. Moynihan, whose chief strategist he was throughout the Senatorial campaign.

In spite of the efforts of a hyperactive neighborhood party machine for City Councilman Ramon S. Velez. Representative Herman Badillo, a valuable member of the House, was renominated in the 21st Congressional District hy a landslide. Considering the hitterness of the contest and the advantage it gives him for another possible try at the mayoralty, Mr. Badillo had a gratifyng day and deserved it.

The one exception to the string of defeats for local cosses was deeply regrettable. The Brooklyn Democratic nachine led by Meade Esposito succeeded in nominating me Bernard Bloom as Surrogate over the resistance of two opponents who advocated reforming that patronige-riddeo office. Mr. Bloom, who promised if elected o appoint "all my friends who are qualified and cometent," contributed one more argument for the complete werhaul, if not elimination, of a much-exploited post.

Economic Dunkirk

Despite a decline in Britain's trade deficit last month. ne pound is still sinking. It has declined every day for ie past five, and closed yesterday at $1.73S. What is the

When all the economic and political complexities are at together they form one simple and overwhelming inclusion: The financial world believes that the outlook r Britain is more inflation. And a higher rate of inflaon in Britain than in the United States, West Germany other major trading nations means a continuously lling pound.

Fears in the currency markets for the future of sterling ve been intensified by the threat of a strike of the itional Union of Seamen, which has put into jeopardy e Government's wage restraint pact with the Trades tion Congress. If wage restraint collapses—and the ions start a mass scramble to catch up with or run ead of the present rate of inflation, which has again en to more than 1S percent per annum-the entire tish economy would suffer a devastating hlow.

such doom is not yet sealed. Fortunately, Britain's vail does not come at a time, like the Depressioo of 1930's, when many nations are facing mass unemyment. Although the world economy has not yet fully overed from the severe 1973-75 recession, or miniression, most countries are on the upgrade, and tha rket for British products is not falling apart. Indeed. re are real opportunities ahead for British exporters, ecially if they would reduce prices, as the pound's now permits. Britain's possession of increased oil erves in the North Sea also holds forth the hope of a ch stronger trade and payments position.

ut none of this will save Britain from economic disaster if the inflationary trend at home continues unabated. Whatever the immediate outcome of efforts to avert a seamen's strike and the danger of wreckage to the pay pact with the unions, the fundamental task of bringing inflation under control requires the British Government to eliminate the huge hudget deficit and hring down the excessive rate of growth of the money supply. The Bank of England has now raised its minimum lending rate to the crisis level of 13 percent, a rate that presumahly would draw money not just from the moon hut from Mars. But even such an astronomical rate cannot solve the problem of the sinking pound-nor can further borrowings from the International Monetary Fund-unless home-grown British inflation is severely restrained by a strong combination of fiscal, monetary and incomes

Prime Minister Callaghan can no longer avoid the necessity of imposing a siege economy on Britain, in the face of what is looming as an economic Dunkirk.

· A report issued by the International Commission of Jurists said torture, arbitrary arrest, exile and other human rights violations are still occurring at an alarming rate in Chile nearly three years after the overthrow by a military junta of President Salvador Allende's elected

In Paraguay, General Stroessner has maintained an iron dictatorship and a state of siege ever since he seized power in 1954. But for years, Uruguay and Chile had been South America's most durable democracies. In each, a combination of economic difficulty and left-wing excesses -in Uruguay by the Tupamaro guerrillas, in Chile hy a Marxist Government-provoked a coup hy heavy-handed military leaders. Now the outrages committed or condoned hy the officers have driven into opposition even many citizens who had welcomed the initial military Chile's military junta observed the third anniversary of its assumption of power by releasing 205 political prisoners. But it accompanied this gesture with an extension of the state of siege, fresh threats against the remaining political parties and a declaration of the "definitive death" of the country's traditional democracy.

Anti-Semitism is not new to Argentina hut the latest outhreaks are the worst in years. They are linked to the campaign of terror waged against a wide spectrum of leftists, liberals and intellectuals hy a group of ex-Peronists who openly espouse fascism. The ruling junta has finally shut down a publishing bouse that had been Issuing pro-Nazi and anti-Semitic literature; but the military's anti-terrorism drive continues to he directed almost entirely at leftist groups while rightist forces continue to function with evident impunity. .

On a visit to Santiago last May, Treasury Secretary William E. Simon warned that continuing United States aid for Chile's economic recovery would depend on the junta's progress in restoring political and civil liberties. Washington needs to take every opportunity to repeat that warning and to extend it to the other oppressive governments in the southern cone.

Dangerous and Pointless

The proceedings, of the House Ethics Committee against Daniel Schorr violate at once some basic principles of press freedom and the simple dictates of common sense. The inquiry is both improper and pointless.

In trying to coerce the suspended CBS correspondent. by threat of a contempt citation, to disclose how he got possession of a House report on the Central Intelligence Agency which he subsequently made available to The Village Voice, the committee clashes head-on with a reporter's duty to protect his sources. Mr. Schort rightly warns that "to betray a confidential source would mean to dry up many future sources for many future reporters," and that "the ultimate losers would be the Ameri-

If the Ethics Committee believes that a member or staff employee of the House committed an indiscretion, it ought to focus its inquiry there, not on the recipient of "secret" information, most of which had already been published piecemeal by a variety of news media, including this newspaper.

It would be a foolish error for Congress to contribute further to the infringement on a freedom so dependent on confidentiality of sources. There will be quite enough . unfinished business to keep the Ethics Committee occupied if it now puts an end to this line of inquiry and permits Mr. Schorr to get back to work.

Mao Tse-tung: 'The Horrendous Misdeeds'

To the Editor: My father visited Mao Tse-tung in his cave city. Yenan, in 1940 during a tour of duty with the Y.M.C.A. in China. Later, as director of UNRRA work on the Yellow River project, he worked with Chou En-lai. Chou at one time slept in father's bed. I bave therefore had a personal, if indirect, interest in the life of Mao over the subsequent years. Mac Tse-tung's death must be regarded as the passing of the greatest despot and mass murderer in human history. If he was the undisputed leader of Communist China, then he was indisputably responsible for the crimes which were committed during his reign.

The "Guinness Book of World Records" quotes Soviet Union estimates of 26,300,000 people eliminated in China during the period 1949 to 1965. Prohably the most carefully researched estimates were made by Prof. Richard L. Welker, director of the Instituta of International Studies at the University of South Carolina, in a study for the Committee on the Judiclary of the United States Senate in 1971. According to this study, between 32,250,000 and 60,984,000 people were killed un-der Chinese Communism since 1949. The "Holocaust" under Hitler and the Stalinist purges cannot compare in magnitude to the results of Mao's policies of systematic extermination.

The human cost is unfortunately much deeper than this. In his massive arrogance, Mao imposed an alien Western (Marxist-Leninist) social experiment upon his people which deliberately destroyed the foundation of traditional Chinese society, the family. He encouraged children to rebel against, "criticize" and, if necessary, murder their parents. The generation of teen-age thugs which resulted showed the world what they were like during the "Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution," when Red Guards destroyed much of China's cultural and intellectual heritage.

It is for these reasons, among many others, that I watched with dismay CBS News' television "special" on the occasion of Mao's death, featuring Charles Collingswood's narration and interpretation. Only the briefest mention was mada of these horrendous misdeeds in a single sentence stating that some two million 'landlords' were liquidated. Our political leaders, likewise, utterly neglect the human cost of the establishment of the Communist Chinese rule. Our "normalization" of relations with Mao's heirs will greatly tend to legitimize criminal social experiments of these kinds in the eyes of the world. Is political expediency so urgent, has our sense of morality become so completely lost that we can so blitnely ignore this terrible aspect ROBERT M. FITCH Coventry, Conn., Sept. 10, 1976 of Mao?

'Experimenter and Gambler'

To the Editor: While the achievements of China under Mao have been impressive, to say the least, history has shown repeatedly that revolutionary momentum declines within a few decades after a revolutionary group takes over the reins of government. In his last years, Mao was able to resist those forces which pressured for an alteration of the revolution's fundamental character, hut it is unlikely that any individual can replace Mao in his unique role as coordinator/manipula-tor of Chinese politics. Under his leadership, society's "natural" conflicts had to be exploited for the sake of progressiveness of the society. Mao's prescription for China's development was not one that was predetermined, but rather it was a graded one based on economic trends and the state of political consciousness as he perceived them over the years.

He saw no inevitable course but was an experimenter and a gambler. He did not always choose correctly; his conspicuous failure was the Grest Lesp Forward of the late fifties. Still, he was bold and decisive, shrewd and intelligent. It is unlikely that his successor will rule in as dramatic a Mao's zeal msy not long outlive him. Following this period of transition, Peking's probable response to the void left by Mao will be to focus on economic growth as a means of influence superior to ideological assertiveness at homa and abroad. And the revolutionary fervor attributable to Mao's leadership will become less an implement of change than a shroud.

The Political Monopoly To the Editor:

If Senstor McCarthy and Governor Maddox are excluded from the Presidential debstes, the sction will underline a curious American contradiction.

Wa have had for the past sixty years a Government that in principle opposes monopolies which interfere with or restrict economic competition. Yet with our political system we take precisely the opposite point of view. We allow the existence of a huge Democratic - Republican monopoly while we systematically prevent other parties from competing on an equal

It is argued that small parties have little likelihood of making an impact media time. But It is precisely that lack of exposure which assures that they always will be small parties. Some waste, on behalf of competition, would seem a smsil price to pay for allowing millions of otherwise disenfranchised Americans to express themselves in an organized forum. We now apperently bave more nonvoters than voters. The trend will only monopoly maintains its corner on the market of political Ideas. Of No Fault and Redress To the Editor:

The opportunity for severely injured motorists or pedestrians to bring a lawsuit or claim would be virtually wiped out under a proposal to increase tha "threshold" level in the state's "nofault" insurance law.

The New York State Trial Lawyers Association is opposed to the recommendation made by State Superintendent Hartnett that the thresbold-the monetary amount of medical expense that must be reached and exceeded hy someone injured in an auto accident before he or she can sue for pain and suffering-be increased from $500 to $2,000. Under Mr. Hartnett's plan, accident victims would have to consola themselves with the payment of their expenses only, while the negligent driver who caused the accident in the first place would be free of legal redress. Other states have abandoned the "threshold" concept because they found that it was unworkable and led to higher premiums for motorists. New York should take similar action and scrap this "threshold" element in the "no-fault" program.

It should be pointed out further that a 132 percent increase in premiums for "personal injury protection" under the "no-fault" benefits portion of the insurance contract bas been granted over the past year.

Last February, the Trial Lawyers Association demanded such hearings in order to find out the reasons for the incredible increases granted the insurance companies. Thus far, there has been no response and no hearings. DANIEL H. MAHONEY

On Social Security's Future To the Editor:

In a letter published Sept. 6. Joan Anderson suggests that, unless motherhood is made economically more attractive, women will stop mothering.

Let ber take care that in the year she reaches 65 the work force suffices to provide her with the Social Security for which she is already paying, and at prices not too greatly out of line with the dollar values of her current and future remittances. What if by that time pay-out depends not merely on dollars contributed to the Social Security funds but on contributions to the work force, which alone can give those dollars economic meaning?

Good Will, Vietnamese Style . President New York, Sept. 10, 1976 To the Editor:

The Vietnamese call the fact that they bave made public a list of twelve Americans killed in action, a "gesture of good will." In the past they stated repeatedly that they had no further information about any of the 1,300 Americans missing in action; at other times they spoke of releasing further information only after the United States gives them economic aid. With these twelve names, all the information given is name, rank and serial number-nothing about how death took place or where the bodies are buried. .

Americans must realize that, dealing with Communists, we do not start from the same premise using terms like "good will" and "humanitarianism." They care about expedience; we care about people.

I am the mother of a U.S.A.F. pilot still missing in action. I urge that our Government remain firm in the commitment not to take one step toward normalizing relations with Vietnam until all P.O.W.'s are returned, a full accounting of the missing is made and the bodies of those killed in action and who died in prison are returned. Further, until these are accomplished the United States should veto the application of Vietnam for admission to the U.N. HELEN C. SHINE

(An urban pastoral)

Absent 23 years, double-deoker buses have returned to service in New York City, on Fifth Avenue, Broadway and Riverside Drive, Four of the eight buses are in Bicentennial red, white and blue.

By Peter Viereck

On trails once yours, males now clank fast gray prose. Dawdling, your two-tier Bicentennial rainbows Hint-right through smog-Manhattan's lyric past. O herd too plous for hectic mech-tech haste, Peel history back to some pre-plastic layer; Pretend stout Peter Stuyvesant is mayor. Is Chicville really still Gaucheville, Dutchly square? What ghost sighs: "Here I was all the time, mynheer"?

Fleeing asphalt only to be mugged by . . . lawn-mowers, Suburb snubs urb, urb winces at . . . mall-goers. Androids shuttle-in station-wagoned tense charade-Between status and crabgrass, praying where they'd preyed.

Cool it! You loaf through doom in double-deckered pride.

More chivalrous than subways and more silent, Big loyal lopers, show my steel-caged island, How wistfulness once humanized machines. Show pilgrims of the rural myth that shuns

New York, your stairs to bumpy Arcadies. Peace of the storm core . . . here two West winds fuse Pegasus with oil tanks . . . Hellas with Horlem, rock. 1, Bronx Theocritus, sing o metal flock,-

An idyll of buses, iron-skinned yet mild, (Tame fire-puffers who would not singe a child); Cowering low-roof calf or bull that towers, Sniffing-in sooty Edens-slum-dreamed flowers:

My Trojan Pegasus . . . dream's steel . . . ogainst steeled powers.

As some lost troll might stumble on the lair Of sleeping dragons and might stare and stare And marvel that their snores make mountains shake And sneak away on tiptoe lest they wake,

So now by chance I find the warehouse sheds Where tired buses doze in secret beds, From all New York as ortfully concealed As elephant graveyards in the Congo weald.

You dream! My quatrains voice each rhyming wheel, Metrics of New York's heart-beat, scanned on steel, And voice your fenders, staunch as tusks in rage, Heroic couplets . . . on an asphalt page.

O noble brutes whose honor is: "We serve," Your crooning engines nurse our every nerve With patient, gawky love through urban stress. Such heavy, ever-bungled kindliness Implies not sleekness but sheer shagginess: Riderless once in your young ice-age times, MAMMOTHS, Turned equine for a clink of dimes.

Then scatter far on separate lonely treks. Then here at midnight huddle flank to flank. And now you sleep! Lest rusty squeaks should vex Your well-earned peace, may every spring relax;

May gulps and gulps of oil bless every thirsty tank.

What Is the Press?

By William Safire

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15-"What is the press?" asked Congressman Olin Teague of Texas, in a serious effort to define the scope of the First Amendment at the House Ethics Committee's final hearing on the leak of the Pike Report.

The question is worth asking, but not in the somosohere of today's hearing room: In a disgraceful abuse of power, a committee of Congress threatened four journalists with "prosecution and punishment" for refusing to reveal sources and editorial meth-

The Ethics Committee, split on whether to hold Daniel Schorr in cootempt, will oot back up its threats. Lawyers on the committee are doubtful that the full House would sustain a contempt citation, and are worried that if it did pass, the citation would be struck down by the Supreme Court, severely weakening the investigative. powers of the Congress.

If Congress is genuinely concerned about national security leaks, it should fill up the boles in its own sieve. But the invitation to the Congress to ettack the First Amendment by threatening newsmen with jail came partly as the result of a show of division and vacillation by the press Itself.

Jimmy Quillen, Republican of Tennessee, proudly pointed to the disagreement within the journalistic community about Dao Schorr's publishing the Pike Report in The Village Voice.

Some journalists bave nitpicked various details of the method of publication, and some publishers have tut-tutted at the lack of prestige of The Voice. Ton many editorialists at first missed the significance of all. that was at stake, and the Congressmen sensed that weakness and moved

"If Schorr didn't do anything wrong," one of the committee members asked me, "why did CBS suspend

More than enything, the action of CBS against its own employee paying for a lawyer, but then ostentatiously holding its corporate nose-is the display of weakness that permitted this investigation to go this far,

It was not always thus. Five years ago, when CBS president Frank Stanton was cited for contempt by a House committee for refusing to hand over what in effect were reporters' notes, CBS chairman Bill Paley called his affiliates together to give them strong marching orders: Lean on Congressmen locally to vote down the contempt

At that time, CBS elso sought the help of the Nixon White House in perstading conservative Congressmen to block the contempt move. Surprisingly, of Federal legislation that would make

House was not its usual press-vindictive self in this matter. Gerald Ford, House minority leader, voted against the contempt citation, which was

Three days after that vote, White House aide Charles Colson granted Dr. Stanton a meeting CBS had been seekiog for weeks, graciously accepting his thanks. The meeting was secretly taped; Mr. Colson oow recalls thet most of the tape was virtually unintelligible but that the CBS president more than once assured the Nixoo men that "we want to work with you."

As can be seen, when one of its top executives was under fire, CBS was ready to lay the sticks oo its affiliates and offer the carrots to the White House for belp.

But when ooa of its oewsmao dared to publish a minor-league version of the Pentagoo Papers-after first using portions on the air and making the text available to CBS for publication -soddenly CBS lost taste for all but the most formal battle.

In the Schorr case, CBS chairman Bill Paley saw the chance to rid himself of the only oewsman who followed up the story—broken by a former CBS News president-of Mr. Paley's long-time cover arrangements with the Central Intelligence Agency.

And so Mr. Schorr was taken off CBS, encouraging some Congressmen to believe he must have done "something" wrong.

Today, after Congressman Quillen's rip-roaring "newspapers come and go, but our country remains forever" blast at a fundamental freedom io the name of security, there should be no joy atop the fortress at Black Rock. Bill Paley-who resolutely forced Ed Murrow out of broadcasting, and tried to silence Howard K. Smith-might be having second thoughts about where his suspension of the annoying Mr. Schorr has led.

To conservatives who enjoyed harassing journalists seen to be liberals. as well as to those who are seriously concerned with protection of national security, let me suggest this answer to "What is the press?" The press is the countervailing power built into our Constitution that is the best defense agaiost all other powers.

Io the near future, the only countervailing power to the liberalism of Speaker-to-be Tip O'Neill and majority leader-to-be Hubert Humphrey might have to be a critical press. If Mr. Ford should lose, we could hardly expect help from the former Governor of Georgia who called a Senator after the publication of the Peotagon Papers to urge, in his words, "the enactment the word was passed that the White news organizations criminally liable."

You should know

The New York Times, on Tuesday, in an editorial entitled "The Arab Boycott," addressed itself to legislation now being considered by the U.S. Congress, which in effect would either penalize American companies or prohibit them from doing business. with and/or in Arab countries. We applaud The Times for examining the implications of this legislation; moreover, there ere portions of the editorial with which we fully agree.

We egree, for example, that e boycott whose motivation is solely religious discrimination is repugnant and unaccepteble to the American way of life. [The Arab nations insist the boycott is not based on religion.] Indeed, there is already a body of U.S. law which makes such discrimination illegal, and we support those laws.

We think The Times has made a contribution In speaking out on this issue, and in beginning an examination of what sort of legislation, if eny, is appropriate. The purpose of this message is twofold: first, to join in the debate and second, to present more fully the consequences to the American people and the American economy if pending legislation becomes law.

First, some relevant facts:

Fact No. 1. Amence imports roughly 40% of the Fact No. 2. About one-third of this imported oil comes from Arab countries, and this proportion is growing every day.

Fact No. 3. Even if this country develops and implements policies that will permit fuller development of our energy resources, America will still become increasingly reliant on Arab oil, particularly in the next decade. There is simply no way around that fact of life. American economic growth, American jobs, the American lifestyle-all will depend to a growing degree on enargy from the Arab nations.

Against this background, the Senate has already passed, and the House is now considering, amendments to the Export Administration Act. We have studied the proposed legislation. And we have major quastions as to its impact. For exampla:

 Could the legislation make it impossible for American companies to import Arab oil into tha United States? We think so.

· Could the legislation make it impossible for American manufacturers to sell goods to Arab countries? We think so.

· Could the legislation make it impossible for Amarican banks to finance trada batween tha U.S. and Arab countries? We think so.

· Could the legislation make it impossible for American ships to cell at Arab ports? We think so.

· Could the legislation lead to inadvertent violations of criminal law by Individuals in U.S. companies? We think so:

In our view, the end result of this sweeping legislation could be to jeopardize America's ability to acquire vital Arab oil.

It could foreclose to the U.S. economy all opportunity to participate in the vast recycling of petrodollars, which now total some tens of billions of dollars annually—a sum that is constantly growing.

The legislation could, by foreclosing American business (oil or others) from Arab markets, be the most gigantic subsidy for foreign business ever enacted by Congress-a Marshall Plan for America's

Finally, we don't believe it practical to try to enact punitive legislation in en erea in which you have little or, no leverage, end at this juncture and for the foreseeable future, the United States needs Arab oil more than the Arabs need U.S. goods end

America, we fear, might be reduced to a second-rate economic power; our citizens, to a secondrate standard of living. Thet's why we think this issue is so important and why we welcome The New York Times' suggestion of more time for discussion.

We believe that this issue has such vast foreign policy and security implications that legislation should only be enacted after the fullest debate and only after adequate reflection on the implications and consequences of what is best for the United States.

More than that, we want your volca haard. you would like a copy of this legislation, write to Box B, Mobil Oil Corporation, 150 East 42nd Street, New York, N.Y. 10017. Read it. Then esk your Congressman what he thinks. We'd even like to hear his :: views, after he releys them back to you.

This may be among our more unpopular messages. But it is better to focus on consaquances now, rather than try later to salvage something out of economic chaos. Please don't think that we are blind or insensitive to the emotions involved on all sides of these issues. What we are pleading for is that the issues be fully debated. To enact legislation as amendments to export-control or tax laws, particularly in an election year, and with less than adequate debate and reflection as to consequences, will not be in America'a best interests.

aris Views Its New Temple of Culture With 'Mon Dieu'

e Laurens, head of the group that includes the Chagall, Braque ouauit families, does not want works given to the new art center.

PARIS, Sept. 15-The most ambitious end audacious temple of culture ever erected in Paris, or perhaps anywhere, is nearing completion in the heart of the capital, amid rising controversy over its facade and

For some Parisians, the Georges Pompidou National Center for Art and Culture, commonly known as the Beaubourg Center, is an architectural monstrosity that looks from a distance like the pipework at an oil refinery. For others, art experts and dealers, it repremajor effort by France to recepture from New York City the pre-eminence that France held as the center of the art world before World War II. But for some of the families and heirs of great modern artists, such as Chagall, Braque and Rouault, the center seems to be a threat to de-emphasize the importance of the early classic moderoists. And some intellectuals fear that the center may become partly a vulgar sbowcase for French industrial products and a means of spreading Government propaganda.

"There bas been a conflict between New York and Paris," said Germain Viatte, the 37-year-old curator of the modern-art museum that is moving to the new center. "It was an unheppy situation. Paris and New York were swollen with pride."

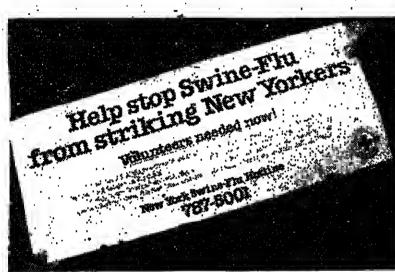

International Aspects Expressed

Mr. Viatte went on to describe Beanbourg as not so much an effort to re-establish Paris as the world art center, but rather as an "exceptional effort by the [French] stete to reanimate artistic life in Paris, hut this national will is being expressed in an inter-national way." Mr. Viatte noted that the director of the art museum, Pontus Hulten, was e 5wede, and that the architect-designers of the center were a Briton, Richard Rogers, and an Italian, Renzo Piano, who won an international competition for the plan-ning of the ceoter. Red Cross appeal in connection with swine flu immunization program

The New York Times/Robert Walker

Flu Shots Coming; Roll Up Your Sleeve

By LAWRENCE K. ALTMAN. . . Federal epidemiologists began preparations yes terday to ask Americans to "roll up your sleeve" is as part of a massive public awareness campaign: aimed at getting 200 million Americans to line immunizations against swine

But at the same time, officials of the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta said that not enough swine flu vaccine would be available to inoculate everyone in the country this fall against the viral infection, as President Ford had hoped to do.

Still, Federal officials expect to deliver more than 20 million doses of vaccine by Oct. 1 to state health departments and to ship an additional 97 million doses by December. After Jan. 1, 132 million doses are expected to be available in the campaign, which calls for voluntary acceptance of the flu shots.

Officials at the center in Atlanta are starting the awareness campaign io an effort to assure that the maximum number of Americans will seek protection against influenza, a serious respiratory infection. A national opinion poll conducted last month for the center showed that although 93 percent of those questioned were aware of the swine flu immunizatioo program, only 53 percent

The central slogan of the awareness program, "Roll Up Your Sleeve, America," will appear on some bulboards and in public service radio and television spots. The slogan will appear under a picture of the international traffic sign for "no" with the word "flu" crossed out, according to spokesmen for the Atlanta center. Center officials also plan newspaper advertisements and posters.

Americans considered at high risk—those 65and older and those of any ege with chronic medical conditions such as heart disease or lung disorders—are being advised to get a shot of bivalent vaccine offering protection against two strains of Type A influenza. These are A/Victoria, which was responsible for most cases last winter, and A/swine, which was discovered at Fort Dix, N. J., earlier this year and which some public bealth leaders suspect may be a threat this winter. Healthy Americans have been advised to get a shot of monovalent vaccine offering protection

The winner, Daniel P. Moynihan, accepted as "gracious" the promise of help from Bella 5. Abzug whom he nar-rowly defeated in the Democratic pri-mary for the United States 5enate nomination. The Liberal Party prepared to shift from its token candidate to support Mr. Moynihan against the in-cumbent Conservative-Republican. James L. Buckley, who handily defeated Representative Peter A. Peyser, the moderate Republican challenger. [1:4-5.]

A debate appeared in prospect between the two Senate candidates from New York. Senator Buckley, who tagged Mr. Moynihan as to the left of most New Yorkers, announced his readiness, while his challenger, proclaiming himself a "liberal centrist," said that wanted to debate. [34:5-6.]

dim view of Mayor Beame by half of New York City's voters is reported in a New York Times survey of voters in the primary on Tuesday. The city's first Jewish mayor was popular with only 45 percent of the Jewish voters while 44 percent of them gave him an unfavorable rating. There were unfavorable majorities among Catholics, union households, blacks, and Democrats who place themselves in the "reformer" category." [35:6.]

New patterns in municipal services di-viding the city into 52 community dis-tricts for decentralized delivery in most cases, were proposed by Mayor Beame. The changes are mandated under the City Charter revisions voted last November and would replace the existing 62 community boards with 52 to take office on Jan. 1. [52:1-2.]

Business/Finance

American Telephone and Telegraph earned just over $1 billion in the quar-ter ending Aug. 31, making it the first publicly owned corporation to earn that amount in a three-month period. Its chairman attributed the gain to e general improvement in the economy, higher telephone usage and higher rates and productivity. [1:2.]

600 Additional Safety-Glass Bus Shelters Planned for New York City in Next Year

In the next 12 months there will be 600 more of those popular safety-glass bus shelters that have been springing up around town as fast as pizza stands and massage parlors.

And there are two new developments: The eight-foot-high shelters, measuring 12 feet in length and 4 feet in width, will spread to midtown, where they were once banned, and eventually will contain hus route maps and schedules.

Nassau Bars Raises For County Employees

The Nassau County Board of Supervisors said yesterday that it would mandate a one-year contract for the 13,000 members of the Civil Service Employees Association that would not provide for a raise this year. Francis T. Purcell, the Presidiog Supervisor of Hempstead and the vice chairman of the Republicao-controlled board, said that increments for employees would continue.

The board's action came after a legislative hearing at which the county said it could not afford raises for its employees because of its fiscal condition. The union conteoded that its members were receiving "starvation" wages. Mr. Purcell said the county was going to pick up the additional cost of hospitalization for its employees, which he said rose 20 to 25 percent this year. The complete cost of hospitalization is borne by the county.

FEW SCHOOLS START BREAKFAST PROGRAMS

Districts Are Said to Find It Difficult to Begin Their Compliance With New State Mandate

By LEONARD BUDER

Despite the mandate of a new state law, few public schools in New York City have so far started federally financed free breakfast programs for needy pupils.

The official predictions now are that these programs, which were supposed to start Sept. I, will not be in full operation . until Feb. 1. It is expected that 100,000 youngsters will be receiving free breakfasts in the spring and that the number will greatly increase the following year when the programs are scheduled to be Peasant power, especially under the intrepid leadership of Oscar de la Renta, is making decided inroads on the resort fashion scene on Seventh Avenue. It's marked by big taffeta skirts, petticoats and babushkas or turbans.

The resort season (sometimes nostalgically called "cruise") is that period between fall and spring when the rich go south pr west to play tennis or swim under the hot suo. Conventional wisdom had it that resort was a fine time to buy hot-weather clothes, because styles were more elitist, designers were more inventive.

Today, things are not so simple. Cruising has another connotation and more people take planes south than go on oceao voyages. Eveo middleclass people manage winter vacations. Besides, many people live where it's mild much of the year.

Not Worried About Adjusting

He's not worried about adjusting to the National football League, though. Arnsparger sald Mikolajczyk "even-tually" would get a chance at tackle, where the 26-year-old player is more where the 26-year-old player is more comfortable. But right now I need him at guard, and that's where Oakland was playing him, anyway," the coach said.

at a time The Giants are short at guard after their opening game against the Red-sidns last Sunday. Al Simpsoo, the regular left guard, suffered a twisted knee and will be out two or three weeks. John Hicks, the regular right guard, had his right-shoulder and arm oruised and did not do any blocking in practice today. And Karl Chandler, the starting center who switched to left guard when Simpson was hurt in the first quarter at Washington, has a bruised arch. From Villain to Hero

Mikolajczyk, whom moved from villain to hero last winter on the Southern professional wrestling circuit, realizes that his opportunity to start with the Giants could lead to an opportunity to wrestle at Madison Square Garden. He's been wrestling professionally in the offseason for five years, going to the mat with Ernie Ladd, Sputnik Mon-

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15 (AP)—Bill Robinson slammed a two-run homer, a single and drove in three runs tonight as the Pittsburgh Pirates beat Phila-delphia, 7-2, and moved within five games of the front-running Phillies in National League East. Both teams have 18 games left.

John Candelaria earned his 15th victory in 21 decisions, limiting the Phillies to three hits, striking out four and walking three in seven innings. Kent Tekulve finished up with two innings of scoreless relief.

The Pirates jumped on the Phila-delphia starter Jim Kaat (11-13) for a 2-0 lead in the second inning when Dave Parker hit a one-out single and Robinson followed with his 20th hom-er. They made it 4-0 in the third, rout-ing Kaat. Richie Zisk banged his 20th bomer, Willie Stargell doubled and Parker ripped a run-scoring single, the second of his four hits.

Candelaria walked Mike Schmidt with one out in the fourth, and after Greg Luzinski flied out, Dick Allen hit a towering drive over the centerfield fence to cut the lead to 4-2. It was his 14th homer. The Pirates wrapped up their fourth straight victory over the Phillies in the eighth off Tug McGraw, the fourth of five Philadelphia pitchers. Parker doubled and scored on Rohinson's single. A sacrifice bunt and Tommy Heims's pinch double sent home the sixth run. Parker ended the scoring in the ninth with his 11th homer.

The game was started and played in a steady downpour. After Baltimore was retired in the sixth, the umpires terminated the contest. Ralph Honk, Tonight they moved one game closer to that long-sought goal behind the "herky-jerky" pitching of Doyle Alexander, the lunging, crawling defense of Willie Randolph and a base-running block by Mickey Rivers that would make Joe Namatin happy.

Those were the primary ingredients of the Yanks' 2-0 victory over the Indians, which reduced their "magic number" to nine and frustrated the Orioles, ber" to nine and frustrated the Orioles, who won their seventh straight game. Any number of Yankee victories and Baltimore defeats totaling nine would give the Eastern title to the Yankees. And bey might reach zero when they play the Orioles in New York this week. Alexander, an Ariole until last June 15, pitched a four-hitter in raising his Yankee record to nine victories and five defeats and lowering his earned-run average to 2,88.

He retired the first 11 Indians, as Grant Jackson did last night, then allowed two singles in the fourth that turned out to be harmless.

Ricco Carty, who had previously broken up Alexander's bid for a perfect game with an eighth-inning single, game.

"His henrky-jerky delivery throws said, explaining the right-hander's success, which includes six victories in his last seven starts. "He hides the ball well and he's got good control."

For all his effective pitching, though Alexander credited Randolph with havnig made the play that saved the game.

The Indians had runners at first and second with one out and a 1-0 deficit io the sixth, when Larvell Blanks lined a shot that appeared headed toward right-center for a game-tying hit. But Randolph, the second baseman, lunged through the air, snared the ball, landed on his stomach, theo crawled toward second and lunged again, tagging the base with the ball before Doane Kuiper could scramble back.

"There's no place tike home." So goes the refrain, supposedly a popular

Not for the New York Mets. After concluding a successful road trip to Midwest where they won seven of eight games, they returned to Shea Stadiom last night. It was a mistake. The Mets lost a doubleheader to the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-0 and 4-1, much to the disapproval of their fans in the crowd of 12,659 (8,963 paying).

Hector Cruz batted in the second with a single to center and Don Kessinger followed with another single to drive home the third run.

John Curtis got through the first two innings without harm, although he gave up a single to Mike Vail with two out in the first.

The Mets broke through in the third. Leo Foster was safe on a high bouncer over the mound, and Jerry Grote, batting for Espinosa, teached on an infield hit off Curtis's glove. Both moved up a base on a wild pitch.

After Lee Mazzilli grounded out, Felix Millan singled to drive in Foster.

Vail flied out for the second out, but Joe Torre walked, filling the bases. Curtis cheked off the rally, getting John Stearns on a 3-2 pitch to fly out

St. Louis added its fourth run in the fifth on a single by Hernandez and a double to the left-center wall 396 feet away by Simmons.

Curtis, after yielding New York's single run, settled down. He gave up-a one-out single to Mazzilli in the fifth and a bunt single to Pepe Mangual in the sixth. Mangual reached second on his hit when Summons threw the ball wildly past first base.

Guy Harris, 10, with a little help from his father, Steve, catching a ball; thrown from the Cardinals' dugout at Mets' twin hill at Shea last night.

Denny had the Mets handcuffed for the better part of the first game, yielding just two hits over the first eight inrings. Dave Kingman beat out a bunt in the second and John Milner singled to right in the fourth. Milner eventually reached third base but advanced no farther.

The Mets finally threatened Denny in the ninth, Bruce Boisclair drew a walk, the third off the slender Cardinal pitcher, to open the inning. Millan-followed with a single to left. After Milner farmed, Ed Kranepool singled sharply off the glove of Luis Alvarado at second, loading the bases.

But Denny got Kingman on a short fly to left, then extinguished the Mets' rally by retiring Ron Hodges on a

Another September for the Phillies

ELPHIA, Sept. 15 — When the games dwindle precious few in September, that's when baseball rest. Magic numbers, Pennant races at a glance. scoreboard. But, until a few weeks ago, it ap-it there would be no September baseball this year. a the Philadelphia Phillies were 151/2 games ahead tisburgh Pirates, while the Cincinnati Reds, the Yankees and the Kansas City Reyals were domiir divisions. But then the Phillies and the Royals began to lose, and the Pirates and the Oakland A's began to win. And now September baseball exists, It's a new experience in Kansas City, where September always was a month for football. But here September is the month where, in 1964; the Phillies Vational League pennant by losing 10 of their last All over Philadelphia the number '76 honors the 'al. but tonight '64 was the number in the minds of , at Veterans Stadium as the Pirates narrowed the me with their problems, some would rather not have me there. It's easier for them to speak up. And sometimes it's better to have criticism come from the players they respect. Certain people don't like to be embarrassed by the manager. They go into a shell. Of my 25 players, I've got about seven I bave to kick in the butt once in a while, but the others I've got to take aside and talk to them."

Danny Ozark's similarity to Walter Alston is not accidental. He was a career minor league first baseman, a minor league manager for nine seasons and one of Alston's coaches in Los Angeles for eight seasons, a total of 31 years in the Dodger organization before his takeover of the Phillies four years ago.

"I remember when I first managed," be recalled, "Fresco Thompson [theo a Dodger vice president] told me, 'Treat the players the way you were treated by the managers you re-spected," and John Corriden [then a Dodger scout] told me: When you make up your mind, don't change it. Your first instinct is the best.'"

Jim Lonborg's Apology

With the Phillies losing, 2-0, to the Montreal Expos last night, Danny Ozark made up his mind to use Tony Taylor as a pinch-hitter for Jim Lonborg, the 33-year-old righthander who had just stranded three base runners with nobody out in the top of the fifth inning. Lonborg was furious, but Taylor, with only four previous hits and a 235 average, knocked in the tying run off Woodie Fryman with a single. Moments later Maddox produced the winning run with a

"I had my mind made up," Ozark explained later. "I knew that Tony has been around a long time and that he knew Woodie Fryman." "We good friends when he was here." Taylor agreed. "He

And so the Phillies struggle this September in an effort to erase the memory of that September in 1964.

"But losing a big chunk of our lead like we did happens to lots of ball clubs," Tug McGraw was saying "Everybody calls the 1927 Yankees the greatest team of all with Babe Ruth and Lon Gehrig, but I never realized until I read 'Babe,' the book Bob Creamer wrote, that in 1928 the Yankees were 13 games in front in August, but on Sept. 9 they left St. Louis two games behind the Browns; that's how much they had blown. But they rallied and clinched the permant in Detroit, and Babe threw a big party. He called room service for a piano, but they didn't bave one so be went out and bought one."

'And how," Tug McGraw was asked, "will you celebrate when the Phillies clinch?" "I guess," the little left-hander said with a grin, "I'll have to buy a piano."

Canadians Take Hockey Cup, 5-4, In Sudden-Death

By ROBIN HERMAN ecial to The New York Time

MONTREAL, Sept. 15-Bill Barber scored a goal for Canada with less than 21/2 minutes remaining in regulation time tonight to send Team Canada's game with Czechoslovakia into overtime. The Czechoslovaks had lost the opening game of the two-of-threegame final for the Canada Cup and tonight bad fallen behind Canada, allowing two goals on the Canadians' first two shots.

After 10 minutes of sudden-death overtime, the score was still tied, 4-4. Darryl Sittler of Team Canada scored after 11 minutes 33 seconds of sudden-death overtime, giving the Canadians a 5-4 victory and the Cup.

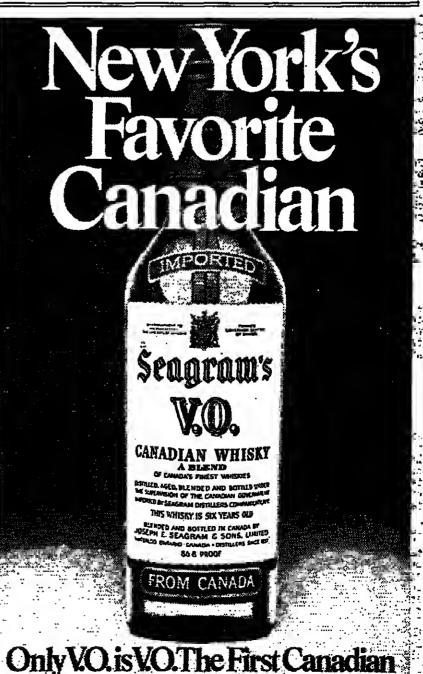

Unlike the other night, when they were also confronted with an early Canadian lead and brutish high-sticking tactics, the Czechoslovaks tonight did not lose their poise. Vladimir Dzurilla, who was taken out of the net in the first game of the finals after having allowed four goals in the opening period, took over tonight for Jiri Holecek, after the slender goalie had allowed goals on the Canadians' first two shots of the

But Cordero, noted for his coolness as a rider, was following the "rule of the turf"—to keep the body still after a spill.

The accident occurred as the jockey, aboard Harbor View's Life's Hope was challenging Buckland Farm's Full Out for the lead. Five horses trailed behind

When it comes to buying a great ooking suit, it's no different.

So, we at National Brands Stores would like to explain the dumb way to buy a suit. And then, so we don't leave ou hanging, we'll show you how we can nelp you do it the smart way.

FANCY STORE. FANCY SALESMAN. FANCY PRICES.

Walk into this kind of store, and you realize that where you're nicer than shopping looks where you live.

And if that doesn't make you feel incomfortable enough, there's always a alesman who spends most of his time ooking down his nose at you.

All in all, you'll have no problem valking out wearing a great looking suit. But you'll have to make some alterations on your budget to pay for it.

ANOTHER ALTERNATIVE: THE SCHLOCK STORE.

In their advertising, these stores isually scream about their ow, low prices and high

When you get into the store, adnittedly you'll find no high prices.

You'll also find no selection and no current fashion.

You'll be waited on by a high pressure salesman who'll do everything he can to sell you a suit. All of which makes you nervous about the suit he's trying to sell you.

More often than not, you wind up with a suit that doesn't cost much. And isn't worth much either.

NATIONAL BRANDS STORES: THE SMART WAY TO DRESS SMART.

At National Brands, we've created stores where you can buy expensive suits, sport coats, slacks, leathers and outerwear at very inexpensive prices. (In fact, according to an independent research organization, our prices average 40 to 60 per cent less than you pay for the same suit where you're buying it now.)*

Besides carrying a low price, our price tags carry the names of designers and manufacturers you know. At National Brands, only the prices are unheard of:

What's more, our stores are open evenings. And most stores are open Sunday. Skilled custom tailoring is available. And a full refund on any unaltered garment returned within 7 days.

And our salesmen are always ready to help you, but only when you're ready to be helped.

So, if you're looking for a more sophisticated way of looking sophisticated, come to National Brands Stores.

Try our suits and our prices on for size.

When you walk out, you look smart. And you are smart.

MONTREAL, Sept. 15 (UPI)—Ray Burn's pitched a five-hit shutout and the Chicago Cubs scored a pair of unearned runs in the third inning today to defeat the Montreal Expos, 2-0.

Mick Kelleher led off he third with a single against Montreal's Steve Rogers, and Burris sacrificed his to second. After Rick Monday struck out, Joe Wallis grounded down the first baseline. Earl Williams fielded the ball but threw wildly to Rogers covering first allowing Kelieher to score. Wallis went to second and then scored on Bill Mad-lock's double.

ATLANTA, Sept. 15 (UPI)—Bob Wat-son drove in three runs with a 4 for 4 night at the plate to lead the Houston Astros to a 4-3 victory over the Atlanta Braves behind the pitching of a rookie, Dan Larson.
The Astros erupted for three runs in the top of the sixth, with Watson singling in the first two and then scoring when the Braves' shortstop, Rob Belloir, bobbled an infield ground-er with two out and the bases loaded.

John Denny of the Cards was safe at first as Ed Kranepool of the Mets couldn't hold Felix Millan's throw in the third inning at Shea Stadium last night. Denny was given a hit. Cards beat Mets in first game, 7-0.

Robinson is in his second year as Cleveland's manager, but he doesn't know if there will be a third. If there isn't, he may wind up back in Baltimore when Earl Weaver leaves, as expected, perhaps to go to California and work for his old boss, Harry Dalton.

"I don't know what's happening . here." Robinson said. "I haven't had a damn word from the people running the club. We haven't discussed it at any time. So I'll just keep managing until the end of the season, and that's

The 41-year-old playing manager, who is earning $200,000 this season, hasn't dwelled on where he may go if he is not invited back, but he is aware of the possibility of Weaver's departure from Baltimore.

In Robinson's six year tenure with the Orioles, he was extremely close with Jerry Hoffberger, the owner, and he was worshipped by the fans as the man who had sparked the team's decade of success.

meanwhile, had maintained the same steady pace with which it had opened the game.

But a power-play by Bobby Clarke about six minutes later returned the lead to the Canadians, 3-2, prompting the nervous Team Canada bench to empty onto the ice to congratulate Clarke, who had ushered in a goalmouth shot by Hull.

Some of the Canadian culprits, who marred an otherwise excellent hockey game with their conduct, were Reggie Leach, who clearly butt-ended Josef Augusta in the abdomen after having taken a check along the boards; Esposito, who, annoyed at Machac for making a fine play to stop him near the crease, pushed his stick blade into the chest, of the prope defeasemen and chest of the prone defensemen, and Guy Lapointe, whose stick slammed against the helmeted head of Marian Stastny as the two players met behind the Canadian goal after Stastny had taken a difficult shot at Vachon.

Canada's joy was short-lived, as the Czechoslovaks made good on a power-play opportunity with Denis Polvin in the box. Machac's shot from the blue line rebounded directly to Augusta, at the side of the net, and Augusta casually and in slow motion dropped it in to tie the score. the center, which will bave cost at least $125 million by the time it opens next January, was described by Le Nouvel Observateur, a Socialist-oriented weekly magazine, which also tacked the pejorative title "Pompidouleum," a reference to the late French President who inspired it, to the center.

But whatever it represents, folly or genius, the center is there, at the edge of the site of the former central mar-ket—a six-story building with 17,000 square meters of floor space that looks not unlike what might have bappened if Rube Goldberg had designed it with gigantic Tinker Toy and Erector Set

Just to the side of the main building, underground and invisible from the street, will be the Institute of Musical-Acoustical Research and Coordination, which will be mostly for work on experimental sounds, occasional public concerts, and will have as its director. Pierre Boulez. By some, the center is seen here as a way to have the French conductor spend more of his time in Paris than in New York.

The center will provide grist, for critics of art and architecture as well as for independent estheticians, for years. It probably will prove as controversial, and attract derision and dubious jokes, as did the Opéra House, the Eiffel Tower and, most recently, the Mont-parnasse Tower office building, in their time. Officials of the ceoter, however, defend it as functional. Its designers, Mr. Piano and Mr. Rogers, say it is "a center where all can participate, not just an élitist cultural monument made of a number of watertight compart-ments, but a people's center, a university of the street capable of reflecting the constantly changing needs of its users. The building is a tool, fluid, flexi-ble, easy to change, full of technical resources inside and outside, on top and underneath." Partitions to Be Movable

Essentially, the building is five hoge concrete slabs encased almost entirely in glass and supported by a network of vertical and horizontal pipes, the lurger vertical ones filled with freez-proof water to lend weight and to supply the fire-extinguishing system.

All of the heavy technical machinery generators, elevators, stairways—are on the outer surface of the glassed walls. The main public escalator is a huge transparent snake trying to get on the roof. The vast inner spaces of the building, officials say, will be a complex of shiftable partitions for various exhibits, with no walled corridors. Perhaps the sharpest cooflict is over what is going to be inside it. The new Museum of Modern Art wants to take most of the paintings and sculpture out of the old one and place them in a permanent exhibition representing the evolution of art in this century.

While the museum's officials, including Mr. Viatte, feel this will be done expertly and without diminishing the prominence of early 20th-century artists, the concept has formidable

Among them is Ida Chagail, the daughter of Marc Chagall, who said in an interview that "We are not against the Beaubourg ceoter," but acknowldeged deed that she had signed a letter protesting the moving of Chagall paintings that she donated, from the old museum to the new ooe.

Claude Laurens, the 68-year-old son of the painter-sculptor Henri Laurens, is the head of an ad hoc group, including the Chagall, Braque and Rouault families, and is the executor of the estate not only of his father, but also of Georges Braque.

Recalling that he grew up among the Cubists, Nabis and Fauvists, Mr. Laurens added, 'Picasso gave me my first box of paints." He, too, said he was not against the Beaubourg center, but that he feared what would happen to 800 works of Rouault, 200 of Laurens, about 20 Braques and several Chagalis. Marc Chagall himself, who is 89 years old, is staying out of the controversy, according to his friends.

"We don't want them to play with the paintings we donated," Mr. Laurens said. "We are afraid they will take some of them and hide them in the cellar." He also said that it was still too early for masters like Chagall, Picasso and Braque to be hung "next to symething by someone 22 or 23 years old." "And we are afraid," he added, "that in difficult times they might decide to sell some of the works, the way the Metropolitan Moseum did in New York, to get new

Mr Laurens also said that the museum's concept of an exhibition of 20th-century art was false because "You cannot cut art in two, according to centuries." Mr. Viatte, sitting in his office in the old Museum of Modern Art, said that the museum would never sell the nated paintings because they were the property of the state and could not be sold. He conceded that some of the early modern works would be more prominently displayed than others and added that he boped the legal struggle, which involves interpretations of the language of the donation documents, would end agreeably.

The Creative Industrial Center, according to its officials, is intended to be a place where ordinary Parisians, and foreigners, are shown how life in an Industrial society affects them personally.

View Is Spectacular

For its opening display at the center, the industrial unit plans to show and describe bundreds of everyday objects—footwear, razors, pills—as if they were in an archeological exhibition 400 years from now. Whatever the exterior of the building looks like, and whatever goes on or does not go on inside it, at least one aspect of it is unassailable. From the lith-floor terrace of the building, next to a planned modest-price selfservice restaurant, gazing out from west to north, the visitor sees Notes Dame Cathedral, the Pantheon, the Church of St. German Des Prés, the Invalides, the Eiffel Tower, the Montaparnasse Tower and Sacre Coeur Church It is probably the most splen-did panoramic view of the city from a height that does not make things appear picture-postcard small.

The soda is a discovery: The "colored girl" learns to trust herself, to believe in her own elemental value.

Having seen "Colored Girls" on an Having seen "Colored Girls" on an open, compact stage at the Public Theater, one worried that its impact might be diminished when set in a Broadway proscenium. The worry was unwarranted. Ming Cho Lee has aded a large flooting flower as backdrop, but has otherwise kept thes tage bare. Oz Scott's production remains unadorned. The acresses and the words create the environment.

environment. It seems no acident that "Colored Guis" is next door to "A Chorus Line on Shubert Alley. There is something of a symbiosis between the two Papp offerings. In each case individual lives are transformed into a collective and complete artistic evocation.

At the end of "Chorus Line," we feel that we know the members of the chorus. With "Colored Girls," we are allowed to share an even more intensely personal experience. The words are Miss Shange's, but each articulate actress invests her scenes with her-self. It is her story that she is confiding to us. It is the closeness, the intimacy, and the specificity of the revelations that make the play so tangible and so poignant.

The final question is not whether "Colored Girls" will find an audience on Broadway, but whether it should find an audience on Broadway. The answer is a very enthusiastic affirmative. Uptown or downtown, in a bar or at th Booth, "Colored Girls" is a play that should be seen, savored and treasures.

Spend an Unforgettable Fall Day at Boscobel. Nestled high above the Hudson River at Garrison, New York, you'll find Boscobel, the authentically restored eighteenth-century home of loyalist-landowner States Morris Dyckman. It is truly a dream house beyond compare, and you'll be able to browse among its priceless antique treasures, rare books, crystal, china, silver and more. Then stroll around Boscobel's 36 magnificent acres of luscious fruit groves, velvet lawns and gardens - even more beautiful now as the leaves begin to change. You'll have a delightful day at Boscobel. .

Miss Fitzgerald's presentation of her songs, drawing on a long career as an actress that has taken her from the Gata Theater in Dublin to Broadway and Hollywood, is basically theatrical and only incidentally musical.

There is a background for every song, a running monologue full of delightful twists and turns that take her from a rowdy and turns that take her from a rowdy and sardonic version of "He's Funny That Way" to Noël Coward and vaudeville and "Phil the Finter's Ball," with some lively stepping, and, finally, to the "under the street songs" of the underground bomb shelters of World War II.

Accompanied by plano, banjo and clarinet or saxophone, Miss Fitzgerald, with her airy brogue, creates an atmosphere through which her songs flow naturally and delightfully. It is a scintillating performance, skillfully balanced to skirt the edge of parody and to focus on the "basic feelings" that make her street songs meaningful.

Special to The New York Times FRANKFURT, Sept. 15—The Frankfurt Book Fair, which opens here tomorrow, will be the biggest in its 28-year postwar history.
The annual show-and-tell and buy-and-sell fair will be a preview of what Americans will be reading from foreign sources in the next few years—and a tantalizing look by most Communist and third world book representatives at what they cannot publish in their own tries because of censorship or lack of government need.

The turmoil in the world outside the bookstalls often arouses what the West Germans call the "spontis"—university students who re-act spontaneously to the crisis of the moment. Last year, students demonstrated for free expression at the stands of the Soviet Union

"The book is a political medium," says Peter Weidhaas, the fair's director, "and it should be. Literature often leads to confrootation.

As long as this happens peacefully, it accomplishes one of the functions of the fair—to offer a spectrum of opinions and to mirror new tendencies. We regard our fair to be pluralistically liberal and not mere-ly commercial."

This year, protest against goverimental suppression is expected to be short-circuited because, for the first time, the fair has a theme: Latin America-An Unknown Literary Continent. A number of au-thors from authoritarian states in South America, who are in trouble or in self-imposed exile-are here -not as spokesmen for regimes, but as novelists and poets and symbols of survival for literature. They include Manuel Puig of Argentina, whose novels taunted the Peron Government and who has sis, was shut down this summer States; Julio Cortazar, another Argentinian, who lives in Paris; José Donoso of Chile, who lives in Barcelona, Spain; Jorge Amado of Brazzi, who lives in Bolivia; Thiago de Melio, another Brazilian, who lives in Portugal, and Eduardo Galeano, originally from Uruguay, whose literary magazine, The Crisis, was shut down by the military government in Buenos Aires, where he had fled from the military goverpment in his own country. Rampant Barbarity

On the eve of the opening of the fair, Mario Vargas Llosa, a Peruvian author who has just been elected president of International P.E.N., the writer's organization,

"From one extreme of my conti-nent to the other, authoritarian regimes proliferate, keeping them-selves in power by force, installing rigid censorship, persecuting all forms of opposition and not hesi-tativity to explorate to the contract. tating to employ torture and crime in eliminating opponents. All, with superficial differences, represent one and the same ideology: barbarity."

The 40-year-old Mr. Llosa, who lectured at Columbia University, praised the nations that have translated South Americans. He implicitly criticized some North American attitudes, saying, "It is vital to eradicate the fallacy whereby the 20 different countries of Latin America are seen as forming a monolithic entity to which it is possible to offer from afar a magic formula for our liberation."

Emphasis on Nonfiction

This year's fair includes displays from 68 countries, with 278,000 titles, of which 83,000 are new, with the overwhelming emphasis on nonfiction. About 200,000 visitors are expected between now and Tuesday, making this a cul-tural event of the first rank in Western Europe. Among the largest stands are those from Britain, France and Italy. China, competing for attention for the second year with the Soviet Union's books, stresses scrolls, posters and

The major trans-Atlantic publishing development is co-production—in printing, sales and even editing. As a result of a consent decree signed this summer by 21 American publishers following an antitrust action by the United States Instance Department a page era of Justice Department, a new era of enhanced competition will begin in the world markets. This will mean greater availability in hardcover and paperback editions of old and new titles for American readers and further publishing links around

American publishers are here to trade ideas and books—and for a more personal reason. "It's peer more personal reason. "It's peer time," says Roger Straus Jr., president of Farrar, Straus Giroux. "I know almost exactly the publishers I want to spend time with. The kind of book I am looking for is apt to show up on certain imprints only. At Frankfurt, I've acquired the rights to Solzhenitsyn, Sinyavsky, Neruda, Moravia—and this frequently leads to their next work in progress."

Art Printed Abroad

Art Printed Abroad

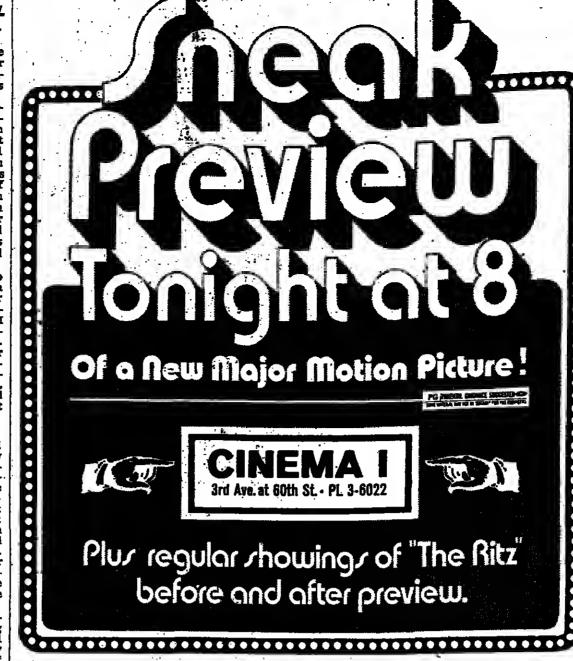

Helen Wolff, whose Helen and Kurt Wolff imprint is published by Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, deplores the use of books as properties and focuses on authors. She goes to Frankfurt to gather intelligence; it was here that she first heard of the young Israeli novelist Amos Oz, now published by her in hardcover and soon to be issued by Bantam Books in paperback. She is here because one of her authors, Max Frisch, the playwright and novelist who wrote this year's "Montauk," will receive the fair's peace prize Sunday.

Allan Lang, director of subsidiary rights for Viking, is arranging co-editions of their art-oriented co-editions of their art-oriented Studio Books, which are frequently printed abroad. The same point of international co-production is em-phasized by Jeffrey Steinberg, president of Stonehill Publishing, which is editing books for foreign publishers in New York and print-ted on the color presess of Mondaing on the color presses of Monda-dori in Verona, Italy.

Among the books Americans will not be reading this or next year are Frankfurt's usual promissory notes: the frequently offered but never written autobiography of Greta Garbo and the authorized Hoghes's adventures. However, one staple is always available here the memoirs of various former Nazi generals.

The general scene is summed up by William D. Halsey of Mac-millan in New York, "If you don't go to Frankfurt knowing pretty much what you want, it's too late," he says. "Otherwise, you spend the first two days drinking and the last two days regretting the deals you've made."

Emmylou Harris's Twanging More Natural and Confident

By JOHN ROCKWELL

ROSLYN, I.I. Sept. 15—Emmy-lon Harris spent years in the late 1960's and early 70's trying to find-her place in music. She made a popsy solo atbum a few years back that she now repudiates, and then she sang backup and duets with Gram Parsons, Finelly, a couple of years ago, after Mr. Parsons's death, she ventured out on her own.

The initial response was adula tory. Miss Harris is a beautiful woman and, in her own demure way, she is not shy about exploiting her beauty. She has an idiosyncratic but ultimately pleasing soprane, she has written a few fine songs and picked decent material by others, and she had no trouble finding a focus in a twanging country-rock idiom.

But then doubts began to emerge, at least in this observer's mind. Miss Harris's second album was an inferior remake of the first. Her songwriting didn't seem to be developing. And even her singing was afflicted with disturbing, hackneyed mannerisms.

This week, Miss Harris showed up for a two-day club engagement at My Father's Place here that ended early this morning. Miss Harris doesn't usually play clubs any more—Eppy Epstein, who runs My Father's Place, called it a "spe-cial favor to us." Perhaps it was the intimate surroundings and the especially friendly crowd; more likely it was Miss Harris's simple growth as an artist—but on every count she has improved in a satisfying way.

The voice may be limited, but Miss Harris is using it now with confidence and a winning natural-ness. There were at least two mostpromising new songs from her. The uptempo material — too often canned and formula-ridden on her records—sounded loose and fun.

And her six-man band played and sang with skill and camaraderie. Whether Miss Harris will one day evolve still farther into a really significant popular artist remains to be seen; at least now she has become a genuinely entertaining

But discrepancy is virtually the method of the movie, which is at its best wheo the satire is played haunts the film and makes for straight without cute mannerisms. When one isn't aware that most of the girls look years older than the boys, and when we doo't see that the cars they are driving are propelled by pedals, "Bugsy Malone" has a good deal of the charm of the stage version of Sandy Wil-son's "The Boy Friend."

In addition to Mr. Parker's very funny screenplay and his apparent ability to tone down the natural stridency of his young actors, the film's chief assets are the 10 Paul williams songs that are very much of this decade, but presented in orchestrations that wittily recall the sounds of the 1920's.

They are lip-synched by the actors, but sung on the soundtrack with much verve by Mr. Williams and some other uncredited singers, incloding a young woman who does two Streisand-like numbers, "I'm Feeling Fine" and "Ordinary Fool," as well as the now-comparable Barbra might do them.

Gillian Gregory's choreography, with much emphasis on the Charleston, is the first real choreography we've bad on the screen in a couple of years. It has a nice, old-fashioned (by movie standards) directness to it, especially in a song called "Bad Guys," in which five fresh-faced boodiums sing and dance the pleasures of being ab-solutely rotten ("We could have been anything we wanted to be.... But we're the very best at being

Scott Baio, who looks young in a small, slight, sort of ageless way, plays the title role, that of a good-hearted fellow who joins a gang to get money to send his true love, named Blousey: (Florrie Dugger), to fulfill her dreams in Hollywood. I have no idea how old Miss Dugger is, but by being pretty, fat-faced and very, very prissy she is marvelously funny as the ingenue. The star of the show, though, is Jodie Foster who, at 14 (147), comes across as a combina-(147), comes across as a combina-tion of Jean Harlow, Twiggy and Glenda Farrell. She is tough, comic, and on her way to becoming one of the screen's great beauties.

The boys in the cast, including Mr. Baio and John Cassissi, who plays Fat Sam, the speakeasy owner and falled ganglord, have a much tougher time because they always look to be in adult masquerade, even when you suspect that they might be older than they hook and victims of approach de look and victims of arrested development. Their performances are good, but their appearances are disorienting, which is not true of the girls because, I suspect, we expect girls to be older for their ages than boys.

"Bugsy Malone" is a picture for Humbert Humbert to see again and again. It is also something of an achievement in the cinema of the G-rated bizarre.

Fight to Control Mister John Pits Designer Against Partner

Mister John, an internationally known company that produces millinery and high-priced fashion clothes, is now the prize in a bitter fight for control between John P. John, the designer who founded it half a century ago, and Leonard Brown, a businessman who became a partner late last year.

The company recently closed its retail; wholesale and manufacturing facilities at 24 West 57th Street as well as its retail boutique at 645 Madison Avenue near 59th Street.

'Still in Existence'

However, Richard Rosen, a New York lawyer representing Mr. Brown, said yesterday, "The company is still in existence but whether it is still actively involved in wholesaling is something that Mr. Brown must say. Mr. Brown, who lives in Freehold, N.J., was not available for comment. The company, which currently has three licensees in the millinery, neckwear and jewelry industries, is a scaled-down version of a once highly regarded millinery and conture-ciothes vehicle for John P. John's designs. He named his firm Mister John, assumed the name John P. John and was often called "The world's greatest millioer." The company hit its peak in 1971 when its

and flower-strewn hats were being bought by Mrs. John F. Kennedy. Others, including many in social and theatrical circles, also were loyal customers who paid as much as $2,000 for a suit, extra skirt and hat, or $350 up for a dress or $70 and up for a hat. Among them were the Duchess of Windsor, Hedy Lamar, Gloria Vanderbilt and Eva Gabor.

But, last year, Mr. John decided to start a national chain of boutique shops for ready-to-wear apparel and sought an investor who could supply the needed funds. A company finder the needed funds, A company finder brought Mr. John and Mr. Brown together. They met after Mr. Brown had closed the operations of Capezio and Things Inc., a franchising company for Capezio sboes, handbags and accessories. After the founder allegedly signed documents making Mr. Brown the major etockholder. Mr. Brown the major stockholder, a dispute developed between them. Peter Brandon, Mister John's execu-tive vice president and partner for more than 30 years, left the company in disagreement with Mr. Brown. A month ago, Mr. John hired Seymour

LM.F. GOLD AUCTION PUSHES PRICES DOWN TO $109.40 AN OUNCE

780,000 Ounces Offered — Sale Is Designed to Set Up Special Fund to Help Poor Countries

By EDWIN L. DALE Jr.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15-The International Monetary Fund auctioned an additional 780,000 ounces of its gold today at an average price of $109.40 an ounce. The average accepted price was about $2 below the London closing gold price today. In the two previous I.M.F. auctions the accepted price was almost exactly the same as the London closing on the day of the acction. Contrary to some speculation, the fund had no trouble attracting hids. The bids totaled 3,662,000 ounces, at prices ranging from a low of $108.76 to a high of $114 an ounce.

The IMF made a profit on the sale of about $54 million, making a total profit from three gold auctions of about $124 million. The money will go to a apecial trust fund to help about 60 of the world's poorest countries.

Tonight's amouncement said that bids for 878,800 ounces were at a price of $108.76 or higher. Thus one large bidder for 106,400 ounces who bid the low accepted price of $108.76 will receive gold for only part of his bid.

Jersey Cities Offer New Municipal Bond

By ROBERT METZ

A new kind of municipal bond designed to reassure investors while reducing interest costs to hard-pressed cities in New Jersey has made a quiet debut in the Garden State.

Early success there has prompted in-quiries from other states and it appears that the new bonds may have an impor-tant future in municipal suance.

The new bonds are not guaranteed by the state. Rather, the state arranges to send directly to the bond issuer's paying agent enough of the municipality state aid funds to assure prompt payment of interest and principal.

The approach was developed by state treasury officials after several New Jersey communities paid in excess of 10 percent to market bonds and after Newark was unable to market school bonds at any price.

New Jersey's Treasurer, Richard Leone, said in a telephone interview Monday that local conditions and concern over New York City's well-publi-cized problems had contributed to the difficulties many New Jersey municipalities were experiencing in the bond

Mr. Leone, who was instrumental in developing the new concept, said that state aid to Newark for education emounted to four times the amount required to service all Newark bonds out-

Of the proceeds, $4.6 million went for such vital services as sewer construction, fire equipment, traffic safety devices and street improvement. The remaining funds constituted the city's share in costs of urban renewal projects. Without those funds, Jersey City would not have qualified for matching monies from the Federal Government.

Last week, Hoboken raised $2.1 millioo for school construction at an interest cost of 6.19 percent. To a degree, Hoboken was believed to have experienced even lower costs because its issue of qualified bonds constituted the they found what they and their Trading they had planted themselves poor. The outlook was for a corn crop of 6.5 billion busbels, nearly 800 million bushels more than this country had ever produced before.

That was the prospect if weather conditions were merely cornel. If the weather proved imusually good, the barns could be overflowing—and the farmers' pockets depleted.

At the end of June, weather conditions had been pretty good, But July rains proved spotty, and the Aug. I outlook dropped to 6.2 billion bushels. August was drier still, and consumers werried about the effect on prices while stock speculators worried about the effect on consumers, their food and their budgets. Corn is the principal feed for meat animals.

Commodity speculators were bullish.
Then, oo Friday, the department gave its assessment. The August drought had truly made a big dent. The estimate of corn production fell to 5.89 billion bushels, still a record but far below the previous estimate.

A Drop Instead of a Rise

On Monday the market reacted. But grain commodities went down instead of rising. Apparently the fears had been much greater than the realities.

One reason may have been the cross-current of an increase in the department's estimate of grain production in the Soviet Unioo — it rose 195 to 205 million metric tons. That meant less United States grain would be needed to supply the Russians, though they would still be required, under a long-

Cattlemen also suffered because increased slaughter and lower beef prices had resulted from dried-up pasture lands and high feed prices.

But, overall, the farm economy remained stable. Important to Policy-Makers

Politically, that was important to the party in power, which had fostered the current, free-market programs and which happened to be Mr. Paarliery's own party, though as an economist he tries to be objective about that. . It was also important to future politons:

Mr. Paariberg took a look at all this and found the dividends.

First, he said, "The size of the crop is such to keep farm prices somewhere near their present levels." That, of course, would be good oews for farmers who had feared sharp declines. The farmers whose crops had been ruined had been forced by the drought to cootribute to the welfare of the others. Catrlemen also suffered because in-

Once there was only life insurance. Now there's variable life.

Why do you buy life insurance? Because you want guaranteed financial security for your loved ones. If that sounds like the usual life insurance policy, you're right. But, now you can get lifetime insurance coverage with one big difference. Equitable Variable Life Insurance—the life insurance policy with growth potential through investments in the stock market. We think it's one of the most important innovations in life insurance in the last sixty years.

There's more: in addition to this growth potential, you still get a guaranteed minimum death benefit, no matter what happens in the stock market.

Here's how it works: Funds supporting your policy are invested in a Separate Investment Account, which is managed by the professional investment staff of The Equitable. Your insurance coverage may increase or decrease annually, depending on the Account's investment results. But, whatever the performance of the Account, your life insurance coverage can't fall below the guaranteed minimum.

Your cash value will also reflect the Account's investment experience, but there is no guaranteed minimum.

Offered by Equitable Variable Life Insurance Company—EVLICO—a wholly-owned subsidiary of The Equitable Life Assurance Society.

For more complete information about the Separate Investment Account and the policy including charges and expenses, send for a prospectus by mailing the coupon, or calling your Equitable Agent, or calling toll-free: In New York City, Southern Westchester and Western Nassau County: 212-541-6730 • New York State: 800-442-5880

Executives at Conference Board Meeting Temper Rosy Outlook With Warnings on Inflation

By WILLIAM D. SMITH

The United States economy for 1977 was painted in largely rosy colors yesterday by economists and executives at a Conference Board meeting, with the only somber tones being references to the per-sistent presence of inflation and unemployment within an overall improving

A full house of more than 800 top busi ness executives attending "Business Out-look 1977" at the Waldorf Astoria was treated to a pleasant day of generally optimistic forecasts on topics ranging from housing to agriculture and capital markets to labor.

Markets to labor.

Most speakers tempered their sanguine outlook with warnings that inflation was far from dead and unemployment a long way from being solved.

Mr. Sommers predicted that the real growth of the economy would be about 6.3 percent in 1976 and 5.5 percent in 1977. He forecast that the inflation rate by the end of this year would be about 5 percent, advancing to about 6 percent in 1977. The economist predicted a 12 percent advance in the gross national product in both years. Unemployment was expected to drop to 6.7 percent in 1977 from a level of 7.5 percent by the end of 1976.

A Preview of TV Commercials

By PHILIP H. DOUGHERTY

The folks attending the first of a new series of seminars sponsored by the New York Council of the American Association of Advertising Agencies at the Waldorf-Astoria got a little bonus yesterday—a preview of some TV advertising that hasn't run yet. That doesn't happen often.

The morning theme was "Where it's at in our creative department," and the topic was addressed by four creative executives from three agencies. Each, of course, felt compelled to show reels of his agency's TV work. And it was when Sam Scali, creative director of Scali, McCabe, Sloves and an awardwinning art director, was showing his agency's reel that the audience got its unannounced sneak preview.

In among the familiar commercials for such clients as the Scandinavian Airlines System, Volvo and Homelite chain saws, was something new-commercials for the Manhattan Savings Bank and for Bolt, a paper towel from American Can that is now in two test

Perhaps the most startling thing about the bank commercials was their theme line, "You wouldn't want to work here, but it's a great place to

Most advertising for companies that depend for some of their success on the quality of their employees service has for its secondary purpose employee motivation. Doesn't that Manhattan Savings campaign seem to disparage the workers?

Asked about that, Marvin Sloves, president of the agency, said, no, he didn't think so at all. The line is tongue in cheek, designed to give the workers a sense of pride that they are good enough to stand the pace.

The theme line will also be the head-

Schweppes Mix Makers Buy Network TV Spots

· Those jolly makers of mixers—tonic water and all that—at Schweppes U.S.A. will become network television advertisers for the first time in the fourth quarter. Terribly exciting, what? The Ted Rates & Company spots will begin running Oct. 7 on the ABC hegin running Oct. 7 on the Ast. Nightly News and news shows will be the major vehicle for the rest of the season. However, Schweppes has also bought into a couple of bowl games. So, as they say in the advertising business, the target audience must elegan running.

Schweppes has been an advertiser on spot TV for a while now, which in the past was adequate for reaching the pockets of its aficionados.

line for the first print ad that will appear in New York and Westchester County newspapers on Oct. 4, the same day as the TV breaks on five stations early and late fringe time—that's her side of prime time. Mr. Sloves reports that the bank, the country's 13th largest savings bank, will be spending about $500,000 during the remainder of the year.

As for the Bolt commercials, they add a third combatant to the current bettle of strength between Bounty from Procter & Gamble and Viva from Scott Paper. They show Bolt towels surviving in a washing machine that tears the competitors to shreds. Two questions: When will American Can go national with the brand? And will it stick with these spots?

Besides Mr. Scali the panelists were
David Altschiller, senior vice president of Carl Ally Inc., and Larry Plapler and Allan Beaver, vice presidents of Levine, Huntley, Schmidt, Plapler &

Mr. Altschiller talked about his agency's point of view, an attitude, he said, most shops won't admit to having. "Our point of view is our client's point of view," is the usual fawning remark. Ally's point of view, Mr. Altschiller said, is "what is" as opposed to "what is not." Reality is the key and the results are believable, he said. sults are believable, he said.

"People don't dream about doing things in their bras in our commer-cials because people don't dream about bras," he said. "People don't have long discussions about toilet tissue in our commercials because people don't have long discussions about toilet tissue."

Then he added a similarly negative comment about Ajax's great White Knight.

Creative ideas, said the former president of the Copy Club of New York, must come from reality, from testing the product and testing the competition's products.

Mr. Plapler and Mr. Beaver did little more than show their reel, which included spots for Timme fake furs, Matchbox toy cars, Jockey underwear and Subaru cars. Then Mr. Beaver remarked that it was much easier remarked that it was much easier to do great advertising for great products and offered the following advice: "If a great ad of yours is shot down by a client, come back with another great ad." Just like that, ein?

His boss, Harold Levine, president of the agency and moderator of the morning, explained that the new seminar series grew out of smaller, less formal afternoon sessions that have

Cool Ad for Vodka

The holiday advertising for Stolich-naya vodka, as created by Ogilvy & Mather, will show a bottle of the product almost totally encased in a cylinder of ice with the headline "A hottle of vodka is a bottle of vodka; a bottle Stolichnaya is a gift."

The ad will begin to run next month in such likely magazines as Time, Newsweek, Sports Illustrated, Penthouse (what, no Playboy?), Psychology Today and Travel & Leisure, as well as some city magazines. Additional impetus to sales will be delivered by outdoor advertising in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Dallas, Houston and Miami.

But the coolest part of the promotion will be a point-of-purchase brochure that will instruct eager consumers on how to prepare an ice jacket for their

He must have decided that commut-ing wasn't so bad after all because he's back here as a senior vice presi-dent at the year-old Schoenfeld/Prusmack. He brought six accounts with him. No wonder he was welcome.

Canada's Import Duty

Canada's new import duty on forsign-made commercials could cause a dollar drain at Canadian television stations. For example, the Gaynor Media Corporation, a buying service working for Warner Books, bought schedules on stations in Montreal and Toronto to promote a book However Toronto to promote a book. However, when the client discovered that the import duty cost more than the air time, it canceled the schedule and bought time on Buffalo and Detroit stations that are seen across the border, according to Gaynor's public rela-

New Chairman Named By Burlington Industries

Burlington Industries, the nation's largest and most diversified textile company, announced yesterday the election of William A. Klopman as chairman and chief executive nificer, chairman and color executive inficer, replacing Horaee C. Jones, who retired.

Mr. Jones. 60 years old, who has been chairman since 1974, will remain a director of the company and will become chairman in the executive-finance Committee in its board of directions.

Over the last few months, Mr. Jones had indicated he planned to retire early. As a result, news of his retirement came as little surprise to Wall-Street analysts, although several had believed he would defer his retirement until next spring.

The SS-year-old Mr. Klopman has served as president of Burkington since April 1974 and will continue to hold the position. He came to Burlington as a sales trainee in 1946 and became one of its five executive vice presidents in 1972.

Since asuming the presidency, Mr. Klopman has been both criticized and praised for an aggressive management policy. Besides closing several marginally profitable plants, he sharply reduced the number of Burlington em-ployees while managing to increase production. "He's tough and hard-driv-ing, "there's no doubt about that," one analyst said. Mr. Klopman, a native of Hohokus, N.J., was graduated from Williams College in 1943. His father, the late William A. The most dangerous dispute now, Brookings considers, is that between Israel and the Arab states. Close behind it is the threat of revolt and war in Yugoslavia or the Soviet satellite states of Eastern Europe, with nationalist forces struggling for independence against the Communists. The third greatest threat, in Brookings's view, is in the Eastern Pacific—over Korea.

Adjustment for Recessions

To cope with soch threats, the Brookings report continues, the United States cannot let its defense outlays go oo decliolog. In 1955, after the Korean War coded, United States defense expenditures accounted for 11.2 percent of so-called "baseline". GNP. -total national output adjusted for

By 1965, with outlays on the Vietnam War rising, the ratio of defense to baseline G.N.P. was only 8.1 percent. By 1970, national defense outlays had falleo to 6.9 percent of G.N.P. And in the 1977 fiscal year, the current budge ary year, defense will constitute only 5.4 percent of baseline G.N.P.

Mexico's growth demands constant economic development, impossible without a guaranteed source of sufficient energetics. To visit "Mexico Today and Tomorrow" is to learn of gigantic projects such as the Chicoasén hydroelectric complex, a plant whose generating capacity will be 2,400,000 KW.

All that we have achieved during the last six years has not only been for us, the citizens of Mexico in 1976, but is also the basis for the future well-being of our children.

tioning. "I'm fully convinced that I'm protected by the First Amendment and I refuse to answer."

After each of these and similarly worded answers, Mr. Flynt, a Georgia Demo-crat, read a prepared statement that "If you continue to refuse to answer the question, your refusal will be deemed by this committee to constitute a willful failure to answer a question pertinent to the subject under inquiry and will subject you to prosecution and punishment by fine or imprisonment or hoth.

"Your refusal to answer will also sub-ject you to prosecution and punishment for contempt of the House of Representatives. Accordingly, you are hereby advised that your objection to the question and your grounds for refusing to answer the question are hereby overruled. As chairman of this committee I hereby demand and direct that you answer the question put to you."

Another Refusal

After Mr. Flynt's statement, Mr. Schorr gain refused to answer, as had Mr. Lat-nam before him. Additionally, Mr. Schorr, a 69-year-old correspondent here for CBS, also declined to turn over to the committee some documents in his possession, including several copies of the Pike committee report. They also had been subpoenaed.

The confrontation between the commit-plain why, given the circumstances of this case, my role in the publication of the report and my right to withhold the source are protected by the Constitution. Let me add that even if our legal position were not as strong as it is, I could still not tell you my source. For me, it is a personal matter—almost a visceral matter.

But Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, we all huild our lives around certain principles, without which our careers lose their meaning. For some of us—doctors, lawyers, ciergymen, and journalists—it is an article of faith that we must keep confidential those matters entrusted to us only because of the assurance that they would remain confidential.

For a journalist, the most crucial kind of confidence is the identity of a source of information. To betray a confidential source would mean to dry up many future sources for many future reporters. The reporter and the news organization would be the immediate loser. I would submit to you that the ultimate losers would be the American people and their free institutions, But, beyond all that, to betray a source would be to betray myself, my career, and my life. I cannot do it. To say I refuse to do it is not saying it right. I cannot do it.

Representative John J. Flynt Jr., Georgia Democrat who heads the committee, questions Mr. Schorr.

tee and Mr. Schorr had been building up for six months since he admitted having provided a copy of the intelligence report to The Village Voice, a weekly news-paper, which published extensive ex-cerpts in February.

Panel Voted to Make Report Public

Compiled by the House Select Committee on Intelligence, headed by Represen-tative Otis G. Pike, Democrat of Suffolk, the report contained an extensive study of the operations of the Central Intelligence Agency and other Federal intelligence bodies, together with severe criticisms of their activities.

Although the Pike committee voted 9 to 4 to make its report public, the full house voted 246 to 124 not to do so. The majority argument was that House leaders had agreed with President Ford not to disclose the contents, and that publication would violate this pact.

When The Village Voice did publish most of the contents, many members of the House felt that the chamber had been held up to ridicule.

Nothing Settled

"I have some trouble answering any questions at all about sources," he told have the ethics committee, formally named the House Committee on Standards of Official Conduct, investigate the circumstances of the disclosure. Although new representing the first three witnesses, a dozen former agents of the Federal Busch to gloss over Mr. Latham's ancient of Investigation conducted the inswer, but Mr. Flynt demanded a reply, quiry—in which about 500 persons have and the witness again refused. been questioned and oo which more than When Mr. Schorr was called to the wit-$150,000 has been spent—the committee ness table, accompanied by his attorney, still does not know Mr. Schorr's source. Thus the widely-heralded confrontation, which was broadcast nationally on radio and television, settled nothing.

The committee remained in the dark about Mr. Schorr's source, and the issue of whether reporters may refuse to reveal sources of information to Congressional committees without risking contempt citations remains unresolved.

Federal law gives Congress the right to imprison for up to a year and fine up to $1,000 witnesses held to be in contempt for refusing to answer questions. In the 19th century several reporters were detained for brief periods, one for

Clay S. Felker, the editor in chief and publisher of The Village Voice, was the first witness. He was followed by Mr. Latham, then by Sheldon Zalaznick, a former editor of New York magazine who is now the editor of Forbes magazine. Then Mr. Schort testified.

The session was held in the hearing room of the House Committee on Education and Labor. Several hundred members of the public joined about 100 reporters at the hearing; others were turned away for lack of space.

In response to questions from the committee counsel, John Marshall, Mr. Felker said that the report obtained hy Mr. Schorr was made available "withno strings attached." He said that while he had discussed making a contribution to the Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press, a group that Mr. Schorr had first spoken with about getting the report published, no money had been paid. published, no money had been paid.

Mr. Felker, Mr. Latham and Mr. Zalaz-nick said they did not know Mr. Schorr's source, and that they had had almost no contact with the network correspondent. The go-betweens were identified as Fred Graham, a CBS News reporter here who is a former official of the reporter's group, and Peter Tufo, a New York attor-

not already available to this committee, and are desired by the committee, I am willing to provide them.

2. Since publication of the report in The Village Voice I have received several thousand letters and telegrams. If the committee feels a need for such correspondence, I should first like to. seek the permission of the persons involved, out of respect for their privacy.

I have notes taken during the coverage of the House Intelligence investigation and I have draft scripts written in preparation for broadcasts. Because of the internal news decision-making and editing process, some of those scripts vary from what I actually did broadcast and, in fact, others were not broadcast at all. All of this work product I must respecifully decline to submit. I believe that it falls under the category of "re-porter's notes" protected by the First Amendment. I take the same position that Dr. Frank Stanton, the president of CBS Inc., took in 1971. He refused to comply with the House Commerce Commissee supposens demanding the scripts and the so-called "out-takes" of interviews filmed in preparation for the CBS television documentary, "The Sell-ing of the Pentagon." His position then and mine today is that the internal process of preparing news for publica-tion or for broadcast cannot be subjected to the compulsory process of sub-poena without subverting the purposes of the First Amendment.

4. The subpoena specifically demanded all drafts and copies of the report of the Select Committee on Intelligence which were in existence prior to January 29, 1976. I cannot comply with that demand.

The examination of the document couldconceivably help lead to discovery of the source. And, as must now be manifest. I consider it a matter of professional conscience as well as constitutional right not to assist you in discov-

This also means, obviously, that I shall not respond to direct questioning about confidential sources. In some 40 years of practicing journalism, I have never yielded to a demand for the disclosure of a source that I had promised to protect. I cannot do so now.

Union leaders and workers checked union's demand for reduced working time as a means of creating more jobs.

Union leaders and workers checked passes at the gates, allowing only salaried employees, cafeteria workers and others

Because of this, it seemed almost certaio that the strike would last at least two weeks, and probably more. If the walkout extends substantially beyond Oct. I, some analysts of the industry were saying, it will begin to have a significant impact on the economy.

165,000 Workers on Strike

More than 165,000 members of the U.A.W. struck 102 Ford plants and other facilities in 22 states at midnight last night, after company and union negotia-tors failed to reach agreement on a new three-year contract. Ford, the nation's second-largest automobile manufacturer a return to work once national issues

—General Motors is the largest—is the are settled, because the union and the plant officials have reached tentative to establish the pattern for an industrywide contract settlement.

Leonard Woodcock, the union presi-three air-conditioned vending areas, the dent, said he was "not optimistic that first such facilities in any Ford plant and the strike will be a short one."

But he said there was some cause for hope in that "there was no antagonism expressed" by the company when it reacted to the strike, that "there was no con-

The major sticking point in the talks apparently has been the demand for reduced working time, as many observers earlier thought it might be. The company made its first proposal on the issue two days ago, and it was rejected by the U.A.W.

One insider at the negotiations said there was a feeling that, if the working-time issue could be settled, the others $45 million a week in the form of wages lost by employees of compaoies that supmight fall into place.

Memhers of the union hargaining committee have scattered to their homes in ply parts and materials to Ford, several states until next week. Mr. Woodcock said they were frustrated and weary over their efforts of the last two months, when the hargaining began. It was felt, he said, "that it would make more sense to break off for a few days and then ome back and make a fresh start." | culate that, hased on the normal weekly | It was generally felt that the minimum | production of autos, Ford will lose $250 come back and make a fresh start."

time the strike would last would be about million in revenue for every week the two weeks. The reasoning is that once formal bargaining resumed, it would take It is unce four or five days, at best, to reach a the losses to employees, suppliers and settlement. Then another week, at least, the Ford company to begin to have a would be needed for the workers to ratify serious impact on the economy. Some analysts estimated that it could happen

Meanwhile, the costs of the strike began after about two weeks.

Pact Allows Workers To Maintain Furnaces

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 15 (UPI)—A pact between the Ford Motor Company and the striking members of the United Automobile Workers allowed 12 workers to cross the picket lines today to keep two glass furnaces at the Ford plant working.

About 560 union members joined the nationwide strike of Ford plants. Pickets were posted outside the main gate of the glass plant.

The skeleton crew is remaining on duty to prevent the furnaces from cooling and forcing a delay of up to a month in start-up time when the strike is settled. Under this maintenance, the plant could resume production almost immediately after a settle-

Both Ford and the United Automobile Workers a specific number of days off each trike no one wanted the negotiations confident that they would arrive at an agreement with no need for a test of economic muscle. With car ales booming, the company was eager o keep General Motors from spreadagling the market at the introduction of he 1977 model lines. The union goal was to expand job opportunities at Ford by guaranteeing working that he was "mystified" over the cause for the deadlock.

Customarily, there is a good dee being deadle.

The company contended that such a plan was "operationally impossible" because of scheduling difficulties in planta over miscalculation," one union executi: said yesterday. "There should have begated aging the market at the introduction of he 1977 model lines. The union, for its part, had no desire to create fresh distress for thousands of its members still struggling to pay debts acquired during the 1974-75 recession.

These incentives for a swift settlement was to make the company more efficient and thus able to expand. They said that was to make the company more efficient not being doctrinaire. We know sor two new plants the company is building more paid time-off is going to emer and two plants it is putting on doubleshift. and two plants it is putting on doubleshift would generate 4,000 new production jobs in the next year.

Price of Peace Pushed Up

The other reality, as seen on the union side, is that the price of peace has gone up automatically through the very fact of a strike. "What could have been enough yesterday gets pushed up once our people are on the street, and it keeps getting higher the more paychecks they lose," said one U.A.W. leader.

Because pay patterns set in contracts with the Big Three automakers traditionally spread through the economy, fixing standards for millions of other workers, Federal officials fear that any sizable increase in the end package will spur a new round of inflation.

The union is dissatisfied with almost companies.

The Key Issues in the Ford Disput

PARTICIPANTS—The Ford Motor Company, with 200,000 employees in 39 states, and 102 plants, depots and research and engineering facilities in 23 states. The United Automobile Workers, with 165,000 members in 91 Ford plants and installations in 22 states.

WAGES-The company's most recent offer would provide increases in base wages of 44 to 83 cents an hour over three years, about 3 percent annually. raising the average factory wage to $7.43 an bour in 1979 from $6.84. This is a fraction of a cent less than the present wage formula would provide. In addition, cost-of-living increases, paid quarterly, would continue at the rate of one cent-an hour for every three-tenths of a point rise in the combined American-Canadian Consumer Price Index. The U.A.W. has made no specific demands, but said that it expects improvement.

REDUCED WORKING TIME-The union is demanding a reduction in working time as a device to preserve existing jobs and open new ones. The company proposed that each worker, after three years on the job, begin each year with a "bank" of 20 to 40 hours of time off, depending on seniority. He could take that time off in a block. Days would be subtracted for absences by the worker. The time could be accumulated from year to year, but expended only in 40-hour blocks. The company would retain the right to part a worker in lieu of the time in certain circumstances, such as emergencie The union, which prefers periodic gual anteed days off, rejected the proposal SUPPLEMENTAL UNEMPLOYMEN

BENEFITS—The union is demanding an increase in company contributions to the Supplemental Unemployment Benefit fund, from which a worker receive enough money, added to regular unent ployment compensation, to provide his with up to 95 percent of his regula take-home wage when be is laid off The S.U.B. funds ran dry at other auto-companies in the 1974-75 recession, hum not at Ford. The company has offered an increases but not enough to satisfy

OTHER ISSUES-The union is seek ing benefits to ease the plight of retired members whose real incomes bave beer reduced by inflation. The company has offered to extend its paid dental-care plan to retired workers. On health ben-efits, the company has proposed over union objections that some be reduced. Skilled workers, who vote as a group on contracts, are seeking an increase in premium pay beyond that of produc-tion workers. The company has offered to provide such an increase, but no figure has been advanced.

'The Last of Mrs. Lincoln' With Julie Harris Is a Sensitive and Detailed Drama

's 'Hollywood Television duced by Los Angeles staands to specialize in small mentations requiring few ren fewer sets. Obviously, d, the executive producer, the hellish vineyards of ets, and the product occaticeably ragged around the so occasionally, Mr. Lloyd le that can smash through dest "production valoes" ı dramatic impact. A dis-:ample can be found this on Channel 13, in James he Last of Mrs. Lincoln," mpathetic portrait of Abraham Lincoln's wife, beginning in the president and his constituency. Io addivers after the President's assassination tion, she eventually settled her debts. and ending with her death in Springfield, Ill., on July 16, 1882. Mary Todd Lincoln has not been treated kindly in. much of history and drama. She was pretentious and silly, constantly pilingup debts. She embarrassed the President by keeping her Southern half-sister in the White House as a guest during the Civil War. She was declared legally insane in proceedings instituted by her own son Robert.

All of these facts are included in "The Last of Mrs. Lincoln," but they are arranged in less unflattering perspective. She did indeed spend foolishly, but only to bolster the pride of the

In fact, she was a woman pounded by tragedy, including the early deaths of three of her four sons. And, Mr. Prideaux's play insists, her devotion to Mr. Lincoln, both the man and his memory, was total and unswerving.

The structure of the play is somewhat unwieldy, shifting from one geographical location to another, sometimes skipping months and then jumping years. But once firmly settled, after about the first half hour, the content is absorbing. Mrs. Lincoln, with no adequate pension being provided by Congress, is followed from a walk-up apartment in Chicago to small villages in Europe, from the death of her son, Tad, to a temporary retreat into unreality.

With George Schaefer as producer and director, the supporting performances range, for the most part, from competent to remarkable affecting. Robby Benson is particularly moving as the consumptive Tad. The dramatic focus, though, rarely leaves the character of Mrs. Lincoln, and the perform-ance at this crucial center is superb.

Julie Harris won a Tooy Award as best actress for the 1972 Broadway production of "The Last of Mrs. Lincoin." Her conception and execution of the role are similar to a multicolored mosaic. As Mrs. Lincoln, she lightly Sits from Southern graciousness to bitter determination, from a kind of Blanche. DuBois distractedness to a calculating charm. She changes her widow's weeds for a bright party gown to please her dying son. She sits anonymously in a French village, in a little roum with her memories, confessing "I live from dream to dream." This is an intelligently sensitive performance, filled with lovely details.

A cote from the department of con-fusing credits: In a recent interview, Melvin Van Peebles, the writer of "Just An Old Sweet Song," credited the nosa for the CBS special to an agent and executive producer. Noting that the program's final credit was given to the "production executive," this writer duly production to lited library library and the lited library library and the lited library credited the listed Lionel Ephraim. Not so. Mr. Ephraim is iodeed the producrion executive, but the executive producer in question was Philip Barry. All credit, then, is due Mr. Barry, and please don't ask what a production ex-

A note from the world of TV reality: A week ago, networks and stations presented a number of specials on the death of Mao Tse-tung. That evening, a viewer called NBC-TV to find out why he was watching about UFO's and not the scheduled program. with Hugh Downs, Answer: "That was: pre-empted for some special." Question: "What special?" Answer: "Oh. I don't know—it's about some Japanese guy who died." Next question, please.

Everybody's singing the fall media blues. TV prices are up 40%. TV time is practically sold out. Advertisers need added frequency now, in the peak selling period of the year.

Sure, everybody's got frequency problems. But only one magazine did something about it. Woman's Day made publishing history by introducing a fourth fall issue. We call it "Octember." Smart advertisers call it terrific.

Now another magazine is planning to come out with an extra issue, too. Our response...welcome. We're glad to see an idea spread that'll be good for our entire industry.

And there'll be plenty more innovations from Weman's Day. Leading the industry has become a habit with us.

Woman's Day
We're one issue more.
